

Senate Group Favors Added Harbor Funds

Tacks 25 Million to War Department Appropriation

ECONOMY IS HIT

Measure Would Permit Start of Work on About 50 Projects

Washington—(AP)—A senate appropriations subcommittee threw congressional economy plans further out of joint today by unexpectedly adding $25,000,000 for rivers and harbors projects to an appropriation bill for civil functions of the war department.

Previously the committee had placed in the bill $45,000,000 in funds rejected previously by the house.

Chairman Thomas (D-Okla.) said today's $25,000,000 addition was approved by a 5 to 4 vote and virtually completed the subcommittee's work on the measure before turning it over to the full committee, probably tomorrow. The subcommittee earlier in the week had added $30,000,000 for flood control work and $15,000,000 for a third set of Panama canal locks.

If the senate approves today's $25,000,000 increase, Thomas said, funds will be made available to start work on about 50 new rivers and harbors projects, chief of which would be improvement of the Missouri river from Kansas City to Sioux City, Iowa, at a cost of $4,000,000.

70 Million Boost

The subcommittee's latest increase raised the tentative total of the civil functions bill $70,000,000 above the house-approved appropriation of $203,472,567. This compared with budget estimates of $220,082,250.

The house appropriations committee, source of most of the session's economy moves, continued its effort meanwhile to hold down federal spending in the fiscal year beginning July 1 by reporting to the house an army appropriations bill $67,337,660 below President Roosevelt's recommendations. The measure totaled $785,999,094.

The committee also cut $42,840,500 from the $87,780,500 in contractual authority asked for the war department's military functions.

In the senate, Senator Davis (R-Pa.) offered legislation for establishment of a congressional budget service to draft annual spending estimates for congress.

World Draft Budget

Davis' bill would place the service under control of a joint committee composed of members of the senate and house appropriations committees. He said the agency would draft an annual budget, which would be compared with the budget submitted by the president. The senate itself continued debate on a bill continuing the administration's reciprocal trade program for three years. Senator La Follette (F-Wis.) proposed that public hearings be required on all proposed trade agreements. The hearings would be held by a board composed of the secretaries of state, agriculture and commerce.

The house labor committee completed its slate of amendments to the Wagner labor relations act. The four amendments would increase the labor board to five members, set up safeguards for craft unions, permit employers to ask the board for bargaining elections, and require the board not to change for one year an employer-employee contract made through collective bargaining.

Michigan Court Says Governor Lacks Power To Suspend McCrea

Lansing, Mich.—(AP)—The state supreme court today ruled that Governor Luren D. Dickinson was without authority to suspend Duncan C. McCrea, prosecuting attorney of Wayne county (Detroit) pending an ouster hearing on charges of connivance with the underworld.

The court dismissed proceedings instituted by the state attorney general in an attempt to enforce the governor's suspension order. McCrea has defied the order, charging it was an "autocratic and arrogant" attempt to deprive him of his office without a hearing.

McCrea, Sheriff Thomas C. Wilcox and 33 other individuals indicted on charges of conspiracy to violate the gambling laws and to protect operators of illegal resorts, are undergoing preliminary examination in circuit court in Detroit to determine whether they shall be held for trial.

Strong Buying Wave Advances Stock Prices

New York—(AP)—The biggest buying wave in months lifted many stocks $1 to more than $3 a share in Wall street today, as the financial district weighed the meaning of the Wisconsin primary vote.

Bonds and most commodities moved forward also.

The buying added strength to a previous advance in stocks started in part by scattered signs of business improvement, including a spring upturn in building.

ELECTED TO CITY OFFICES

Other Candidates in Nonpartisan Column Also Are Victors

Milwaukee—(AP)—Daniel W. Hoan, Socialist who served as Milwaukee's mayor for 24 years, was retired from office in yesterday's municipal election, defeated by a political youngster who sang for votes.

The mayor-elect, who belongs to no party but is a member of a score of civic, fraternal, religious and musical organizations, is 32-year-old Carl F. Zeidler, former assistant city attorney.

Complete unofficial returns gave Zeidler a margin of 12,115 votes. The totals were: Zeidler 111,980; Hoan 99,845. The vote was the heaviest in a Milwaukee election.

Zeidler's victory in his first campaign for office was a triumph for exponents of the art of making friends. He has them by the thousands—probably knows more Milwaukeeans by their first names than any other person.

Famous in Many Fields

Born in Milwaukee, the son of a barber, Zeidler entered politics with a long list of scholastic and civic successes. In high school, he excelled in football and track. At Marquette university, he won acclaim as an orator. He was graduated in 1929 with honors, chosen by his classmates as one of 18 most likely to succeed. He received five civic awards last year for service to the community.

Friends say Zeidler—tall, blond and handsome—set his eye on a political career years ago and used his

Drunk Driver Fined $50, Costs Oshkosh Man Has Attorney Make Guilty Plea In Municipal Court

Edgar Alfred Falk, about 27, 605 Bowen street, Oshkosh, had his attorney enter a plea of guilty for him on a charge of drunken driving and was fined $50 and costs by Judge Thomas H. Ryan in municipal court this morning.

The motorist was given an alternative of 60 days in the county detention camp.

Falk was arrested at a tavern in the town of Greenville last night after a search was made for the man following a report to the sheriff's department that he was driving in an erratic manner in the vicinity of Leppia's corner.

Nazi and British Planes Shot Down

Each Participant in Fight Shoots Down Other At Sea

London—(AP)—A British-German air duel off the Yorkshire coast ended today when each participant shot down the other at sea.

The pilot of the British plane, a Spitfire fighter, was rescued, as were five German airmen who were picked up by a trawler after their Heinkel bomber was forced down even though it had been disabled.

Britons said the Spitfire was the first fighter plane lost defending the British coast since the war started. Another plane believed to be German was chased over the Shetland islands.

The admiralty declined to comment on announcement by DNB, the official German news agency, that merchantships under convoy in the northern part of the North sea had been raided "successfully" by German warplanes.

New German air incursions followed a twilight raid by about twenty planes last night on the important naval anchorage at Scapa Flow.

An admiralty communique said the raiders were beaten off without damage to any British warship and that "one of the Nazi aircraft is believed to have been brought down by gunfire."

NONPARTISAN RACE
Other Candidates in Nonpartisan Column Also Are Victors

Milwaukee—(AP)—Rival factions supporting President Roosevelt for a third term today were staging a neck and neck race for control of the Wisconsin Democratic national convention at Chicago, according to latest returns from yesterday's delegate election.

Thomas E. Dewey, New York, was assured control of the Wisconsin Republican delegation for his presidential candidacy in reports from more than two-thirds of the state's 3,011 precincts but the same returns left unsettled the dispute between the opposing Roosevelt camps.

While third term New Dealers scored a smashing victory for the president in his preferential contest with Vice President Garner, when it came to counting delegate votes there was a nearly even split between the Roosevelt-Farley slate endorsed by National Committee Charles E. Broughton and the Gustave Keller slate endorsed by the New Democratic Party Organization.

Wisconsin's spokesmen at the convention may include one Garner supporter, former Assemblyman Willis E. Donley, Menomonie. Donley was leading in the Ninth district contest.

Heads Keller Slate

In the race for four delegates-at-large, former Governor Francis E. McGovern, Milwaukee, Keller slate candidate, topped the list with 107,748 votes in returns from 2,234 precincts.

Favor Clifford, Schmalz

The county Democrats would, Tuesday's vote indicated, send Gerold Clifford, Roosevelt-Farley pledged delegate candidate, and Leo H. Schmalz, Keller supported candidate, to the convention as the party representatives from the Eighth district. Clifford polled 2,708 votes and Schmalz 2,126. Bert L. Larkin, the other candidate of the Broughton faction, was given 1,482 votes. James W. Early and Albert D. Shimek, Garner endorsed candidates, polled 1,625 and 1,617 votes, respectively. J. Norman Basten of the Keller camp received 1,637 votes.

In the Democratic contest for four delegates-at-large, Gustave J. Keller and Francis E. McGovern of Keller's Democratic Party Organization of Wisconsin and pledged to Roosevelt, led the ticket. Keller aggregating 3,530 votes and McGovern 2,512 votes. William B. Rubin of the Broughton group and John A. Callahan, pledged for Garner, were the two other Democratic choices. Rubin polled 2,453 votes; Callahan, 2,194.

Jolius G. Seyfert and Charles E. Hammersley, the two other Keller camp candidates, polled 1,861 and 1,861 votes.

Mrs. J. L. Johns Dies at Capital Congressman's Wife Was Active Club Woman While in Appleton

Mrs. Esther Marian Johns, wife of Representative Joshua L. Johns of Algoma, Wis., former residents of Appleton, died at Washington, D. C., last night. She was taken to a hospital Feb. 19 and submitted to an operation a few days later.

The Johns family resided at 908 E. Alton street for about 15 years, leaving here about 8 years ago. Mrs. Johns was a president of St. Agnes guild of All Saints Episcopal church and active in the Fortnightly club and the Appleton Woman's club.

At Washington she was president of the Ladies club of the Seventy-sixth Congress.

She was born at Algoma and was a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, affiliating with the Delta Delta Delta sorority while at Madison. She and Johns were married Sept. 7, 1910.

Survivors, in addition to her husband, include a son, Neuman, Algoma, and two grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted at St. Agnes Episcopal church at Algoma at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon by the Rev. W. Stanfield Booker, Algoma, and the Rev. Harwood Sturtevant, Fond du Lac. A short service was to be held at the capital this afternoon. Burial will be in an Algoma cemetery.

Town of Seymour Is 1st to List Returns

The town of Seymour was the first town to report its election returns last night.

Herbert Tubbs, town clerk, reported in a few minutes after 7 o'clock. All town officers were re-elected without opposition. The town also cast an overwhelming vote favoring the repeal of the teacher tenure law.

The second to report returns was the village of Bear Creek. Its report was made but a few minutes after the town of Seymour reported.

Appleton Voters Make Four Changes on City Council, Name Three New Men as Supervisors

Appleton voters went to the polls more than 9,200 strong yesterday and elected four new aldermen and three new supervisors to represent the city on the county board.

The changes in council representatives will be in the Sixth, Tenth, Fourteenth and Eighteenth wards while the county board changes will be in the Fourth, Sixth and Eighteenth wards.

Harvey G. Kittner, a former alderman, polled 413 votes to win the Sixth ward aldermanic job from Alderman Peter DeLand, who received 410 votes. A recount of ballots is expected. DeLand was represented the ward for the last year and lost only after a strenuous campaign.

The second upset came in the Tenth ward where Alderman E. P. Grignon, serving his second term, lost to Robert Roemer, who ran first in the primary race. Grignon polled 284 votes against 345 for his opponent.

In the Fourteenth ward the aldermanic contest was won by Robert D. DeLand, a former alderman, who received 258 votes against the incumbent, Alderman William H. Falatic. A sticker candidate, Falatic, polled 202 votes to finish ahead of the nominee, Rudolph Madsen, who scored on 134 ballots. Falatic withdrew from the aldermanic race in the primary to become a candidate for city clerk. He was defeated for that job and became a sticker candidate for alderman.

The Eighteenth ward city council race was won by Harold H. Douglas who polled 232 votes against 176 for Wickesberg.

Wickesberg Loses City Engineer's Job by 73 Votes SAGER IS WINNER

Yesterday's Winners

| Mayor | City Treasurer |
|----------------------------|--------------------|
| John Goodland, Jr. | Joseph A. Kox |
| City Clerk | Edward E. Sager |
| City Engineer | Lloyd M. Schindler |
| City Attorney | Harry P. Hoffelt |
| City Assessor | George E. Feolter |
| City Commissioners | John H. Wood |
| Mrs. Margaret E. St. Clair | |

Mayor John Goodland, Jr., was re-elected by a margin of 1,455 votes and Lloyd M. Schindler, city engineer for 11 years previous to two years ago, won back his old job by defeating the incumbent engineer, Alfred W. Wickesberg, by 73 votes in yesterday's election.

Edward E. Sager, a city treasurer under the commission form of government, was elected city clerk by about a 3 to 1 margin over Miss Dorothea Leisner, deputy city clerk. Sager will replace Carl J. Becker, who retired from city work to go into private business.

Joseph A. Kox, incumbent city treasurer, won reelection over his opponent, Martin A. Hendricks, with 5,995 votes against 3,190 for his opponent.

A record number of voters for a city election went to the polls yesterday despite the rain in the morning and the threatening clouds during most of the day. The total was 9,279 which compares with a previous high of 8,445 votes in the spring election two years ago.

Harry P. Hoffelt, incumbent city attorney, and George E. Feolter, incumbent city assessor, were re-elected without opposition.

School Board Upset

An upset occurred in the race for school commissioner when Mrs. Margaret E. St. Clair defeated an incumbent, Mrs. Edward E. Lutz, for one of the available jobs. John H. Wood, incumbent, won the other. Mrs. St. Clair polled 4,143 votes against 2,998 for Mrs. Lutz. Wood had 5,993 votes.

Mayor Goodland's victory was never in doubt as the first wards began to report. He polled 5,367 as compared with 3,912 for Albert C. Rule, a former mayor and assessor. Goodland led by substantial margins in 12 of the city's wards while Rule scored high in six, including the Twelfth and Thirteenth, on the south side of the river, the Third, Sixth, Seventh and Sixteenth wards. The mayor's home ward, the Fifth, gave him 350 votes to 211 for Gul while the Sixth gave Schindler margins while the Fourth and Fourteenth supported the incumbent. The score at the finish was 4,622 for Schindler and 4,540 for Wickesberg.

Sager Sweeps City

Sager swept the city carrying all of the 18 wards by large margins. His largest vote was polled in the Second ward, where 581 ballots were marked for him, and 142 for Mrs. Leisner. Sager's total was 6,481 against 2,846 for Miss Leisner.

Kox carried every ward in the city. Hendricks' best ward was the Sixth ward which gave him 376 votes.

Wood was assured one of the school board jobs from the start and led his opponents in every ward in the city. The race for the second post was between Mrs. Lutz, the incumbent, and Mrs. St. Clair, who took 11 wards and finally defeated Mrs. Lutz by 155 votes.

Roosevelt Sure of New York Backing If He's Candidate

Garner Beaten Badly in Test in Four Congressional Districts

New York—President Roosevelt seems assured of the 94 convention votes of his home state New York, if he wants a third term.

The presidential campaign management of Vice President Garner struck at the Roosevelt third-term movement yesterday in New York's primary election, and failed.

In the only four congressional districts where the regular organization designers for delegates to the convention were opposed, Garner men were beaten overwhelmingly. While not formally committed, both the Democratic and Republican delegations were chosen unopposed—the successful candidates of Tammany and the allied Democratic organizations are substantially certain to support the president if he enters the fight.

The Garner people's challenge was admittedly a difficult one to make good, since they were compelled to pit a new, small and incomplete organization against the power of the old regular Democratic machine.

More Than 2 To 1
They contested in the First, Sixteenth, Twentieth and Twenty-third districts, making their greatest effort in the sixteenth with Alfred E. Smith, Jr., son of the former governor, and State Senator John McNaboe as their nominees. By a ratio of more than 2 to 1 they fell before Representative James H. Fay, a 100 per cent New Dealer, and John Egan. All four districts are in New York City.

Ed Flynn, the Democratic leader of the Bronx, led the pro-Roosevelt ticket of delegates to a 5 to 1 victory in the Twenty-second district. The Twenty-third district showed a victory of more than 4 to 1 and the first district a less overpowering but nevertheless sharply decisive result.

Thomas E. Dewey, aspirant for the Republican presidential nomination, who is expected to have the bulk of New York's 92 delegates of that party—with Frank Gannett, the Rochester publisher, taking the remainder—won by a margin of around 6 to 1 in the only contest specifically directed against him. This was in the Sixteenth district.

Cornucopia Votes to Become North Pole

Cornucopia—By vote of 110 to 44, this little village on the north-east tip of Wisconsin decided yesterday it would like the new name of North Pole, Wis.

Approval was left to the United States postoffice department, which recently rescinded an order permitting Marshville, Wis., to use the name.

Another Keller candidate, Charles E. Hammersley, Milwaukee, was third with 98,105. In second and fourth places respectively were two Roosevelt-Farley delegates, William B. Rubin, Milwaukee, with 100,306 and Charles W. Henney, of Portage with 95,611. Keller was pushing Henney for fourth place, trailing only 1,500 votes behind.

In four of the district elections where the results had been decided, the rival Democratic groups broke even, and in the remaining districts, except for the Ninth, they were about on equal terms with many precincts still to be reported.

Zimmerman Leads Slate
Dewey's delegates-at-large won easily over the supporters of Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, Republican presidential aspirant. They were Secretary of State Fred Zimmerman, who led the Republican vote by a wide margin, Ralph Nelson of Superior, Quincy Hale of LaCrosse and Albert J. O'Melia of Rhinelander.

Dewey held what appeared to be safe leads in most of the districts but in the second, former Sheriff Fred T. Fink of Dane county (Madison), a Vandenberg candidate, threatened to capture one of the convention seats.

In the first district, Keller Democrats elected Edwin J. Boyle, of Burlington and Jay B. Blum of Kenosha. In the Sixth, Roosevelt-Farley Democrats named Assemblyman Nicholas J. Biehler of Belgium and A. H. Guenewald of Oshkosh.

The states divided honors in the Milwaukee districts, electing one each in the Fourth and Fifth.

Close Contest
With 140 precincts missing in the Seventh district, John Ringle Jr., of Wausau (Roosevelt-Farley) was but 200 votes behind the Keller candidate, Charles H. Cashin of Stevens Point. The vote: Cashin 5,922; Ringle, 5,722; Frank D. Chapman, Berlin (Garner) 5,722.

Ninth district returns in 241 of 364 precincts gave: Donley (Garner) 3,015; Crane (Roosevelt-Farley) 3,024; McNally (Roosevelt-Farley) 3,407.

In the tenth district returns from 229 of 407 precincts showed: Green (Keller) 4,126 Russell (Roosevelt-Farley) 3,671; Harris (Keller) 3,577.

District returns in the Republican contests showed the following: (The first two names listed are Vandenberg candidates, the second two are Dewey delegates; where a third state is listed it is unstructured): First: 179 of 193 precincts: Eberhart 7,929 and Pedley 7,797; Cady 9480 and Sheldon 12,638; Olson 4,746 and Overton 4,514; Serpe (Taft) 1,922.

Second: 153 of 285 precincts: Finn 6,654 and Hartman 5,375; Caldwell 8,227 and Kohl 7,397; Bogue 3,469 and Brendenmuel 2,761.

Third: 245 of 362 precincts: Burns 6,217 and Smith 5,830; Thomson 11,913 and Wardle 10,227; Ringling, 4,022.

Fourth: 192 of 265 precincts: Novak 7,431 and Perry 6,850; Hogue 10,814 and Piasecki 12,677; Buer 2,283 and Hoepfner 2,283.

Fifth: 274 of 284 precincts: Benson 13,306 and Seifriz 13,573; Doll 21,866 and Getteman 23,763; Klatt 3,979 and Zisch 3,451.

Sixth District
Sixth: 103 of 208 precincts: Campbell 5,696 and Peters 5,233; Greeley 9,007 and Hausman 8,311; Fellenz 2,999 and Volght 3,406.

Seventh: 239 of 364 precincts: Damon 7,512 and Kileen 6,766; Mueller 12,905 and Spearbreaker 11,045; Ruehner 3,827 and Roman 3,056.

Ninth: 241 of 364 precincts: Crocker 6,395 and Lagrandeur 5,879; Kellman 11,169 and Peddycoart 10,165.

Tenth: 229 of 407 precincts: Huber 4,046 and McRae 3,704; Heden 6,672 and Raffaele 6,121; Berglund 1,358.

First Test in U. S.
The Wisconsin election was publicized as the first test of voting sentiment in the middle west. Available returns indicated more than 600,000 ballots were cast, and that Democrats had polled between 400,000 and 500,000 more votes than the Republicans based on a comparison of the standing of leading candidates on each ticket.

President Roosevelt's total, it appeared, would be considerably less.

BULLITT LUNCHEONS WITH SENATORS
William C. Bullitt (left), American ambassador to France, who figures prominently in the German "white book" controversy, is shown in conversation with Senate Majority Leader Alben Barkley, following a private luncheon in Washington arranged by Sen. Barkley. Some of the guests included members of the senate foreign relations committee which will decide whether there will be an investigation of Nazi-published statements involving Bullitt.

Many Mayors Defeated for Reelection in Race Tuesday

By the Associated Press
Mayors in many Wisconsin cities lost their bids for reelection yesterday.

Chief executive of Ripon, DePere, Watertown, Prairie du Chien, Cuba City and Horicon were among those who were defeated.

Mayor James R. Law was returned to office for his fifth term by Madison voters despite a large "write in" vote for Leo G. Straus, veteran alderman.

Results in other cities:
Watertown—Walter Nack, a market operator, defeated Dr. F. C. Haney and Mayor R. W. Lueck, who ran in that order.

Horicon—William H. Markham elected mayor over the incumbent Mayor Rogers D. Yorgey.

Waukesha—George Couits, defeated two years ago for mayor by Henry Snyder, reversed the order and won the position again.

Hartford—Cyril F. Lor reelected, defeating Adam F. Polt and Conrad Guesz.

Wausau—August C. Polster reelected.

Monroe—Frank Buehler, elected, defeating Alderman Herbert T. Summerlin.

than in the 1936 primary when his name was placed before the electors without opposition. He received better than 400,000 that year. The Republican total indicated a substantial gain.

Columbus—Senator Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio), candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, said today in an interview that results of the Wisconsin election "indicate a very substantial anti-Roosevelt sentiment."

President Roosevelt defeated Vice President John N. Garner for the state's Democratic convention delegates three to one, but Taft asserted the "anti-Roosevelt sentiment" was evident "when you consider that many Progressives participated and voted for the president."

Asked about Thomas E. Dewey's defeat of Sen. Arthur Vandenberg for the Republican delegation, Taft commented: "nothing would surprise me in Wisconsin."

Youth Admits Cashing Three Forged Checks

Waupaca—Lester Kickland, 18, Wisconsin Veterans home, pleaded guilty of cashing three forged checks totaling $30 when arraigned before Justice of the Peace S. W. Johnson yesterday. The youth was bound over to circuit court for sentence and is being held at the county jail in lieu of a $1,000 bond.

Undersheriff W. L. Jones, who arrested Kickland, charged he cashed forged checks at the Kroger store and Deep Rock Service station, Waupaca, and at the Schultz tavern, Ogdensburg.

Waupaca GOP For Dewey; Democrats Divide Support

Broughton-Endorsed Slate Wins 4 Delegates, Garner Gets Two

Waupaca—A majority of Waupaca county voters who went to the polls yesterday to elect delegates to the national nominating conventions next summer marked Republican ballots, and a clear majority of these Republicans indicated that Thomas E. Dewey was their choice for party standard bearer, according to results in 28 out of the 44 county precincts.

Democrats, who polled approximately 1,000 less votes than Republicans, endorsed Roosevelt for a third term over John Nance Garner by 285 votes, but they also voted to send two Garner-instructed delegates to the national Democratic convention. The other four delegates picked by Waupaca county voters are of the Broughton-sponsored Roosevelt-Farley faction.

Dewey-pledged delegates held a command conference and the candidates pledged to Vandenberg and those who sought election as instructed delegates. Julius Spearbreaker, a Waupaca county resident and also a Dewey delegate, ran far ahead of the ticket, polling 1,788 votes; while Ralph E. Puchner, who was listed on the ticket as "uninstructed" trailed far behind with only 205 votes.

The vote in the Democratic primary was close, but Democrats showed a decided preference for the slate proposed by Charles E. Broughton of Sheboygan over the candidates sponsored by the Gustave J. Keller faction, endorsed by the state conference.

Even the Garner delegates received better support than was accorded the Keller group.

The Republican vote was divided as follows:

Dewey district candidates—Spearbreaker 1,788, Muller 1,203.

Favor Roosevelt
A total of 956 Democrats indicated they wanted Roosevelt for a third term, while 661 showed a preference for Garner, or voted for the vice president as a protest against a Democrat.

Keller's "Roosevelt delegate-State conference endorsed at large—Seyfert 393, Hammersley 232, Keller 335, McGovern 334; district delegates—Beyries 279, Lawrie 241.

Garner delegates, at large—Callahan 406, Finnegan 383, Fitzsimmons 369, Port 337; district delegates—Cavanaugh 247, Chapman 386.

Uninstructed delegates at large—Shropshire 141.

Waupaca voters, by a vote of about 2 to 1, endorsed repeal of the teachers' tenure law. The vote was 2,662 for repeal and 1,399 for continuing the law.

Intensification of British Blockade Results in Sharp Military Answer From Goering

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
New York—British Premier Chamberlain's announcement of heavy intensification of the politico-economic war of strangulation against Germany has brought from Goering the quick and defiant threat which was to be expected.

Field Marshal Hermann Goering, heir to Hitler, today flung back at the allies the declaration that a "decisive blow must be struck in the west" and that the fuhrer has "mobilized all resources" for the assault when the time seems ripe.

It was the logical military answer in view of developments in the Anglo-French camp.

That was a whacking allied gain which Chamberlain reported proudly yesterday in his house of commons, in recording that England and six neutral states had made pacts calculated to deprive Germany of a great store of badly-needed supplies.

But it also was a wracking Hitlerian advance which came out of Bucharest in the news that the Rumanian government would draft 4,000,000 young men to form an agricultural army to insure bountiful grain crops from this rich Danubian garden-spot, in order to keep up with export demands—Germany's in particular.

Crucial Struggle
So our first offensive of the spring is, happy to relate, not the "blood bath" which might have come but a fierce politico-economic drive, and these early reports from the front leave no doubt that the battle is getting hot.

Actually, come what may, this clash without gunfire likely is the crucial engagement of the war—far more deadly and devastating than a bombardment from great guns.

It will determine ultimately whether the Anglo-French allies can garrote Herr Hitler with their economic blockade, or whether he can turn out of the stranglehold, and make a counter-attack in kind.

Goering didn't say when his leader intends to strike with his military arms to "end the war" but we take it for granted, I believe, that Hitler will make the effort if and when he sees that there is no escape from slow death in the blockade. Pending that moment he will try to meet the allies on their own economic grounds.

The aim of the belligerents is to win the neutrals by pressure, profit or promise of security—for these neutrals possess either highly-desirable supplies or afford some strategic advantage which the warring nations covet. And the smaller nations, seeing the conflict growing fiercer and more dangerous for them, are scurrying for shelter in what looks like the safest spot.

Thus what we are seeing in this really remarkable development is a general realignment of affiliations between the belligerent powers and other European nations. For the little fellow it is an anxious moment. It behooves him to pick the winning side, for he may not have another choice.

Trade Pacts Involved
If you can visualize this fierce struggle, waged with the weapons of economic strangulation, it will afford more stark drama than a dozen raging fields of military battle.

Chamberlain's announcement, which brought both followers and opposition in commons to their feet to applaud, involved trade pacts with Norway, Sweden, Iceland, Belgium, the Netherlands and Denmark, and to dependent children administration.

GETS STATE AID
Miss Marie Ziegenhagen, Outagamie county treasurer, today received a check for $458.84 from the state as the federal-state aid for pension administration of the pension department in the county. The breakdown shows $14.20 for blind, $270.80 for old age and $173.84 for gum, the Netherlands and Denmark, and to dependent children administration.

Truck and School Bus in Accident

Three Chicago Students Are Injured but None Seriously

Chicago—Three high school students were injured today in a collision of a 10-ton truck, loaded with bricks, and a bus carrying 34 students to the Calumet High school on the far south side.

The bus driver, Burton O'Brien, 31, was able to take the uninjured students on to the school after the crash. None of the injured, Willard Water, Aileen Hopkins, 16, and Mary Mary Jurkiewicz, 17, appeared to be in serious condition.

Four persons were killed in two earlier accidents. Mrs. Margaret Baine, 45, was killed and her daughter, Miss Lydia Baine, 25, was critically injured when a speeding truck swerved to avoid a street car and struck the women as they stood along the curb waiting for another street car at Van Buren and Halsted streets. The truck careened back across the street and smashed into an elevated structure pillar.

The truck driver fled on foot but police said he was identified by a brother who had been riding with him and who said they had been drinking.

Clem O'Barski, 30; Ray Ambrose, 37, and Henry Rieck, 61, were killed when O'Barski's car and one driven by Arthur Zajack, 38, collided at Pulaski road and Fifty-fifth street.

$56,000 Allotted for Green Bay Harbor Work

Washington—The Wisconsin projects at Green Bay and Milwaukee were included among those which would be authorized by the $231,000,000 program for national waterways improvements approved yesterday by the senate commerce committee.

The program, approved despite a veto warning from President Roosevelt, would allot $110,000 for the Milwaukee harbor and $56,000 for the Green Bay harbor.

The national program would be extended over a seven year period beginning July 1, 1941.

The first two of five in the "educator series" will go on sale Tuesday, with stamps honoring John Audubon and Dr. Charles V. Long. They will be of 1-cent and 2-cent denomination respectively.

Mrs. H. F. Clauson Is Speaker at Meeting Of Monday Night Club

Waupaca — Mrs. H. F. Clauson, Horicon, chairman of the department of American citizenship of the General Federation of Women's clubs, told members of the Monday Night club that "what America needs today is men and women who care enough and who dare enough to live for her." Furthermore, she continued, women do a great deal of detail work in this country—work that men do not take time to do. Women have the biggest field in which to work in their own communities where each is known and where one can work through his own family and own efforts.

Two vocal selections by Mrs. C. H. Bacher accompanied by Miss Brenna Gibson at the piano, were "Come From Far Away" and "Welcome, Sweet Springtime." A trio with the Misses Aileen Miller, Helen Sill and Honor Walsh sang "The Sweet of the Year" and "Robin Singing in the Rain."

Next Monday evening, Mrs. Edward Hart will be in charge of the lesson which is on Latin America; Europe and Latin America since 1914; Latin America and the World war and investment since 1914.

2 Cars are Involved In Minor Collision

Cars driven by William Jorgensen, 59, route 2, Denmark, and Bernard Nemschoff, 17, 527 N Appleton street, collided about 5:20 yesterday afternoon on College avenue. Jorgensen was going east and Nemschoff was pulling from a parking stall when the collision occurred. It was reported to police.

BICYCLE STOLEN

A bicycle owned by William Dougherty, 1022 W. Harris street, was reported stolen from a parking stall on Washington street last night according to police. The bicycle had a 1939 registration tag, No. 1746.

Voters Elect Six New Supervisors To County Board

George Schaefer, Albert Krueger and William Conlon Defeated

There will be six new faces on the county board when it organizes in May as a result of yesterday's election.

New supervisors were named by three towns, while in the city of Appleton three supervisors were elected to succeed board members who did not seek reelection.

George R. Schaefer, Greenville, was defeated by W. H. Becker, 172 to 201. Schaefer was chairman of the county executive committee.

Jacob De Jong, unsentenced Albert Krueger in the town of Freedom. De Jong accumulated 331 votes to 314 for the incumbent, Krueger, who was chairman of the county agricultural committee.

Conlon Loses George Daggett scored 180 votes to defeat the incumbent chairman, William Conlon, in the town of Deer Creek. Conlon received 163 votes.

Henry Vandehy was elected supervisor in the Sixth ward, Appleton, succeeding Frank Kositzke, who was not a candidate for reelection. Vandehy polled 431 votes to 376 for his opponent, Sylvester Esler.

In the Fourth ward, Appleton, Fred N. Calmes received 311 votes to succeed Armin Scheurle, who was not a candidate for reelection. Calmes' opponent, Allen Solle, polled 128 votes.

The third new supervisor in Appleton was named in the Eighteenth ward. He is Charles Scheibler, who succeeds John Bauer. Bauer did not seek reelection. Scheibler polled 270 votes against 123 for his opponent, John N. Ney.

TOWN OF GRAND CHUTE Emmet O'Connor was reelected chairman of the town of Grand Chute, defeating William F. Ertl, 555 to 412. John Timmers, incumbent, with 440 votes, and Fred Bohl, with 449 votes, were elected supervisors. Defeated in the contest were John Williams, incumbent, with 435 votes, and Arthur Mannan, with 417 votes.

Wayne E. Roman was reelected clerk without opposition. Ray L. Feuerstein piled up a big total of 706 votes to be reelected treasurer. His opponent, Gus Schroeder, netted 246. Stanley A. Gillespie polled 542 votes against 403 for George Fingel in the race for assessor.

George A. Krickbein was elected justice of the peace with 500 votes against 402 for Matt Beschta. Herb Vandine was named constable with 504 votes compared with 405 for his opponent, Francis Baer.

TOWN OF DEER CREEK George Daggett scored 180 votes to defeat the incumbent town chairman, William Conlon who polled 163, in the town of Deer Creek. Ernest Lucbe, incumbent supervisor, polled 200 votes against F. C. Schultz' 128 votes for reelection. Herman Koehler was unopposed for the other supervisory post. R. W. Ponzer, incumbent, scored 182 votes against 150 for Irving Neilsen for assessor. Unopposed were Harvey Borg, clerk; Alton Due, treasurer; John Sieber, justice of the peace; and Art Knapp, constable.

TOWN OF GREENVILLE George R. Schaefer, incumbent, was defeated by W. H. Becker for town chairman. Schaefer polled 172 votes while W. H. Becker tallied 201. William Tiedt with 84 votes and Henry Ulman with 82 were elected constables. The other two candidates were Lawrence Beckman who netted 64 and Ruben Klusness who got 49. Nick Wiesler was reelected clerk with 314 votes against 59 for Lloyd Schreiber. Other officers elected without opposition were Ervin Tellock and Carl Buchholz, supervisors; L. A. Collar, treasurer; Gilbert Thorson, assessor; and Roy Menning, justice of the peace.

TOWN OF OSBORN The town of Osborn voted to remain "wet" when it voted favorably on two referendums for the issuance of license for the sale of intoxicating liquor and for the issuance of a license for the sale of fermented malt beverages. The vote in favor of the first was 167 to 60 and on the latter 163 to 52.

Arnold Muenster failed to unseat Fred Blom, incumbent chairman. Muenster got 62 votes to 168 for Blom. In the only other town contest Arthur Krahbe was elected assessor with 143 votes as against 86 for Irma Schmidt. Other officers elected without opposition were Emil Kleist and John Timm, supervisors; William Klutke, clerk; P. W. Eick, treasurer; Clarence Freund, constable; and Allen Powell, justice of the peace. The town voters favored repeal of the teacher tenure law 156 to 52.

VILLAGE OF SHOOTON Barb Allender was named president, polling 133 to Rudolph Schwandt's 101. The three trustees elected were Mike Mack 214, George Miller 194, and John McArthur 119. Mearl McCully received 118 votes.

Elected without opposition were F. J. Braatz, clerk; E. W. Kuehler, treasurer; Sherman A. Payton, assessor; Mike Mack, supervisor; Alfred Omholt, constable.

KIMBERLY Three incumbent trustees were reelected in a field of five candidates at the village of Kimberly. They are Leonard Goffard with 404 votes, Henry Melcher with 339 and Martin Van Hreswyk with 380. The defeated candidates, Gordon Welton and Henry M. Williams scored 271 and 272 respectively. Floyd Lambert polled 42 votes to defeat J. VanderZanden, who had 33 votes for justice of the peace. Other candidates unopposed for reelection are: Lloyd Lang, president; Paul A. Lochschmidt, clerk; Harry A. Van Himbergen, treasurer; Marlin Van Deby, assessor; Lloyd Lang, supervisor; Martin Keyzers, constable.

LITTLE CHUTE The village of Little Chute elected three trustees Tuesday, renaming two incumbents and defeating a third. Henry Dercks with 425 and Paul Kostka with 384 were reelected but Peter G. Jansen lost his post on the board when he polled 370 votes to 420 for Emil Van Dyke. Other trustee candidates and their votes were George M. Fritschel 203, Albert Langsdyke 327, John H. Oudenhoven 250 and Henry Verbruggen 218. There were no candidates listed on the ballot for constable but Joseph Versteegen's name was written in 31 times. Anton Casey Jansen was named justice of the peace for one year with 436 votes to 314 for Willard Van Handel and 52 written in for Ernest Miron.

VILLAGE OF HORTONVILLE Results in the trustees race, three of whom were elected, were Albert Schneider 193; John H. Steffen 189; Bernard Larson 171; Lester Fulcr 148.

John Baurenfiend was named assessor, polling 109 votes to 61 for Peter Olf 66 for A. L. Collar. E. A. Buchman defeated A. L. Collar, 129-120, for justice of peace.

Elected without opposition were B. J. Oik, president; Rufus Poole, clerk; Mrs. Gertrude Diestler, treasurer; W. B. Brown, supervisor; Arthur Dunn, constable.

VILLAGE OF BLACK CREEK E. Rohloff defeated Doris Rueter, 148-82 for the office of treasurer. Elected without opposition were H. J. Brandt, president; B. Reideout, C. Sieverl, F. Zuleger, trustees; E. G. Shaw, clerk; F. Sasman, assessor; I. A. Gruenwaldt, supervisor; George Riehl, justice; Ray Rohloff, constable.

TOWN OF CICERO Walter Blake, incumbent chairman, unopposed; first supervisor, John Reink; second supervisor, Hilbert Wituhn, incumbent, 138; August Gruenwaldt 66, clerk; Jacob Hahn, treasurer, Bert J. Brugger, assessor; George Tubbs, justice of the peace; Emil Mueller, Charles Murrey, constables; Carl Krull and John Krull, incumbents, brothers, unopposed.

TOWN OF KAUKAUNA There were no contests for offices in the town of Kaukauna. Herman Krueger was elected treasurer and succeeds Henry Ebbon who was not a candidate. Other incumbents reelected are Frank McDaniel, chairman; William Walsh and Andrew Verboom, supervisors; Arnold Deering, clerk; Peter Vanderheiden, assessor; Walter Reimer, justice of the peace; and Joseph Van Bogart, constable.

COMBINED LOCKS Martin Williams was reelected president of Combined Locks village when he polled 132 votes against 86 for Walter Lopes and 6 for Robert Hella.

Trustees named were Edward Linberg with 164 votes, Joseph Wildenberg with 104 votes and Albert Weyenberg with 156 votes. William Erickson, who polled 98 votes, was eliminated.

TOWN OF ROYALTON
Paul Rieckert polled 210 votes to 117 for Anton Erdman to be elected chairman of the town of Royalton, Waupaca county. Clifford Roman defeated Robert Roberts for the office of first supervisor by a vote of 190 to 140. Emil Kotke defeated Alvin Fenske for the office of second supervisor by a vote of 204 to 108. Other officers named without opposition were Myron Mather, clerk; Louis Rach, assessor; Otto Redman, treasurer; Ed Fenske and Leo Winske, constables. Charles Heitzfeldt, justice of the peace for two years, and Arthur Domke, justice of the peace for one year.

VILLAGE OF FREMONT
Charles Pitt was reelected president of the village of Fremont Tuesday, without opposition. For trustees, three elected: Dr. Walter Neuschaefer, 115; Frank Walker, 99; Alexander Guenther, 83, and Albert Averill, 70; assessor, George Sherburne, 85, and Elmer Kargus 50; constable John Looker 77; Elmer Kargus 58; clerk, Joseph Giel, Jr., treasurer, B. F. Pitt; supervisor, Edwin Sader, justice of the peace, R. E. Schliebe, two-year term. There were 67 votes for and 37 against repeal of the state teachers' tenure law.

TOWN OF FREMONT
More than ordinary interest was manifested in the town of Fremont election, in which 174 persons balloted. William Kramer was elected chairman, receiving 122 votes, while Alexander Collender received 52; east side supervisor, Walter Marquardt won over Gilbert Kester, 98-67; and Walter Kieckhafer received 105 votes and Guy Stowell, secured 61 for west side supervisor; town clerk, Charles Hanne, 134, and Albert Hahn, 34; treasurer, Roy Brooks, 134; Walter Sander 34; assessor, Carl Borchardt, 121 and Frank Seblead, 49; justice of the peace, Jack Anderson, constable Edward Marquardt, Jr. Repeal of the teachers' tenure law was also favored, 86 to 39.

WOLF RIVER TOWN
A quiet election was held in the town of Wolf River, Franklin Neuschaefer was elected chairman; Grover Ulrich, clerk; Robert Ristau, treasurer; Paul Metzger, justice of the peace; Richard Krenke was elected supervisor for the west side over Harvey Borchardt; and Christian Dreyer, east side supervisor over Edward Becker; assessor, Theodore Krenke over Charles Hahn; constable, Fred Wentzel, west side and Harry Endrich east side. The teachers' tenure law referendum vote was 56 for and 69 against repeal.

ANSWER ALARM
Firemen were called to the home of Sidney Jensen, 1808 N. Oneida street, at 4:35 yesterday afternoon to put out a chimney fire. A spark set fire to the roof but there was little damage.

HUMAN BONDAGE IN THE WORLD TODAY

Slavery has been a detestable thing in the eyes of man for some generations. But the drift in the totalitarian governments has been definitely toward serfdom despite a torrent of language ceaselessly employed to prevent this conception from taking root.

In Italy, Germany and Russia altogether about 300 million people are definitely in the clutch of a certain form of servitude which, according to the Civil War conceptions, amounts to little less than slavery although there are certain clear distinctions between the prevailing form of servitude and negro bondage as this country knew it.

The black man was owned bodily by a certain master who provided him with food and clothing and shaped the course of his life. The residents of totalitarian countries have no privileges whatsoever excepting those granted to them by the State.

And what is the State? Is it composed of men selected by the people and somewhat amenable to their will? Definitely, no.

Although Hitler received 40 per cent of the votes at a German election, the highest number, and therefore took the supreme position of power it would be a distortion of language and thought to assert that those who voted for him elected him for the purpose of destroying the form of government then in existence. Mussolini had less of public approval in his journey to power and Stalin had none at all.

So the people of these nations work for wages fixed by their masters at tasks at which they are directed and for such length of time and under such conditions of health and safety as happens to please those masters. They are not only devoid of any power whatever to alter or affect their situation in life, but if they open their lips they are subject to punishment of the same order that Uncle Tom took from Simon Lagree.

Yet one difference forces itself to the surface for attention.

Lincoln used to say he never heard of a slave who wished to continue in slavery. That was his answer to the heavy bombardment of argument that claimed that slavery was good and that slaves would be worse off free than in bondage.

But there is little doubt that a great number of people in the totalitarian states favor this form of serfdom, are happy in it, and will support it with their efforts and their lives. This class has been made as great and extensive as possible by the ingenuity of the tyrants at the top who appreciate full well that the only way you can keep millions of men in chains is to reward some of them by a division of authority and the creation of innumerable positions of power conveniently placed between the cringing, voiceless serf at the bottom and the proud and arrogant tyrant at the top.

When slaves ships anchored at the mouth of African rivers for a human cargo the principal problem that confronted them was to gain the confidence of negro tribes, delude them by false gifts and false promises and finally corner and capture them.

Methods have not changed in respect to the present day bondage of the white man.

In every totalitarian government the people have been falsified to until one would think the throats of the commissars would choke up with their flood of infamous statements. The Russians were promised a division of the land. But the land was not divided. They were promised a dignified position for organized labor. Their position is identical in this respect with that in Germany. They were promised free speech, a free press, freedom of religion, and many other attributes considered essential to the liberty of the individual. But just let one of them try to get anything of that kind!

All of these promises were captured by trick and seduced by pretenses. "Dictatorship of the proletariat" sounded like a wonderful slogan to the Russians, but it was no better than "Bread and Work" employed in Germany.

As the millions of trusting and gullible had put their hands in the steel circles the locks were turned, the keys were thrown away, and another tragic chapter had been written in man's inhumanity to man.

But there is much more blame to be weighed out on the scale of justice than that against the tyrants.

What shall be said of the fools who believed all these stories?

ROCKEFELLER CENTER

One of the greatest architectural achievements of the age and one of its most generous contributions to public benefit is completed with the driving of the last rivet in the last building of Rockefeller Center.

Anyone who has visited this marvelous work of man does not need to be persuaded as to its magnitude. For those who have not yet seen it, statistics will give at least a suggestion of what it is.

More than two thousand firms are now centered within its towering buildings. More than 150,000 persons pass in and out of its doors every 24 hours. More than 20,000 persons work in Radio City every day.

The total valuation of Rockefeller Center is fixed at $92,173,000 for 1940. On it taxes totaling $5,100,000 are paid every year by the Rockefeller.

A noteworthy sidelight on the building of Rockefeller Center proves the daring of the imagination out of which it was created. The first building was begun in 1928. The next year came the worst depression in the history of the country. But the construction was continued without interruption, reflective of the faith and vision of the men behind it, and continued for 10 years through good times and bad. During this time 150,000 persons were given employment supplying needed materials and 75,000 union men were given work on the actual construction. These workers were spared the fate of unemployment.

The premises on which the Center is built are held on a 99 year lease negotiated by the Rockefeller with Columbia university. No one can foretell what changes will have taken place by the time this lease expires, but certain it is that during the years to come a vast amount of business, a great many scientific developments and thousands of cases of individual human progress will have transpired within the walls of Rockefeller Center.

This is much more than just another New York showplace. It is an inspiring symbol of man's daring, faith and skill.

THAT RAMPANT SUN

The first time the sun, by some sort of gaseous eruptions from its surface which sent electrical shafts earthward, disrupted telephone and telegraph communications, our favorite radio programs here and the short-wave reports from abroad, the world was more surprised than annoyed. This was a phenomenon to be oh-d and ah-d over, and for scientists to try to explain.

The second time the disturbance occurred it was slightly irritating and the third was positively insulting. Indications were that the sun was getting into the habit of that sort of thing—and what would anyone be able to do about it? Disturbing thoughts arose of even such dignitaries as Charlie McCarthy and Baby Snooks being broken in on rudely at crucial moments.

It is with relief, therefore, that we notice nature is planning to crack down on her obstreperous sun. An event has been arranged for April 7 which should be a reminder that even the sun can be shadowed. In astronomical terms this will be the annular eclipse, one of the only two solar eclipses which will occur this year. The name "annular" is derived from the fact that the eclipse will come during a new moon and because of that only the center of the sun will be obscured, leaving a thin ring of the sun around the black disk of the moon. "Annular" comes from the Latin word "annulus" which means "ring."

Astronomers explain that two solar eclipses are the minimum that can occur in any year, five the maximum, and that both of the ones scheduled for 1940 will come during a new moon.

However, from the layman's viewpoint, a chief point of interest is whether this eclipse April 7 will suffice to deflate the sun enough so that it will let us have our radio programs in peace.

STRICT RULES IN DANGEROUS PLACES

On March 26th, 1938 an air-liner crashed at Oklahoma City killing its 8 passengers.

During the next 12 months public carriers in the air operated 87,325,000 plane miles and 315,000,000 passenger miles without an accident to a passenger.

But during this same 12 months there were over 300 mishaps to private planes snuffing out over 100 lives.

Here certainly is not just another case of wily statistics. It is a sermon in safety supported by rules written from harsh experience and enforced by high discipline upon a body of men carefully selected for intelligence.

In a sense it might be compared to the expected results of a clash between an army like that of Germany or France on one side and an army such as the Soviets could bring forward on the other.

Rigid attention to rules, a complete understanding of why the rules were made, an enthusiastic pride in the "service," all these collected under the term discipline and whether applied in peaceful or bloody endeavors, bring the most satisfactory results.

In fact it is in dangerous avocations that discipline becomes essential to life.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY GO ROUND

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN

Washington—Columnists Dorothy Thompson and Arthur Krock don't know it, but they had one high-placed member of the administration on their side in the controversy over unemployment figures.

The unexpected ally was Secretary Frances Perkins.

When the two columnists fired their startling barrage that the employable jobless army numbered only two and not ten million, New Deal strategists, fearful of the effect the charge might have on their drive to increase the WPA budget, scurried around to drum up impressive denials. One authority they approached for such a counterblast was Miss Perkins.

But to their astonishment she balked. At first they were mystified by her attitude but, finally, on an inside tip they found the explanation in her annual report last year. In this document is a paragraph that in effect completely corroborates the Thompson-Krock claim.

Note—While Miss Perkins' report escaped general notice, the alert U. S. Chamber of Commerce spotted it. The chamber called its members' attention to the report in a monthly bulletin.

FRANK'S GOP PLATFORM

If you have been following the campaign speeches of the Republican candidates, you probably have been struck by this interesting coincidence:

That on all major issues their views are practically identical, and that all these views are strikingly similar to the ideas expressed in the report of the Glenn Frank Program Committee. As one Republican veteran on Capitol Hill sagely observed, "The boys apparently are writing their speeches with a Thesaurus in one hand and the Frank report in the other."

This quiet borrowing from the Frank report is particularly evident on the farm issue. The Frank committee, in effect, approved the AAA but criticized allegedly inefficient and bureaucratic administration. Also it advocated that the emphasis on benefit payments should be on "soil conservation" rather than on the New Deal's "crop control."

The Frank "farm plank" unquestionably scored in the crucial grain belt. It was widely republished and enthusiastically endorsed by many prominent local Republicans. This was not lost on the three leading GOP candidates, Dewey, Taft and Vandenberg.

Since publication of the report they have followed its "farm plank" very closely. In his Omaha speech, Dewey practically echoed the plank. Taft, who last December in Des Moines took a poke at farm subsidies, sang a more Frank-like tune in his second try at the farm issue at Springfield, Ill. And Vandenberg's senate declarations on the subject also have been along the lines of the Frank report.

LIBERAL GOSPEL

This attitude of the Candidates is very significant.

The Frank report is a lot more liberal than the views held by certain powerful Eastern GOP leaders, who will have a great deal to say behind the scenes at the Philadelphia convention. That the candidates nevertheless are echoing the doctrines enunciated by the report indicates clearly that they deem this liberalism necessary to win public favor.

It also is a good tip-off that when the GOP platform emerges it will read very much like the Frank report. In his preface, Dr. Frank stated that it was not the intention of his committee to write a platform. But party insiders will give you odds that that is just what he did. Note—in the hot Dewey-Vandenberg primary now in progress in Nebraska, Dewey boosters are capitalizing on Vandenberg's vote against the $212,000,000 parity payments fund by declaring that Dewey favors such farm benefits. The young New Yorker has never said this flatly himself, but his Nebraska supporters are claiming it for him.

SCUTTLED "PLOW"

The famous "Plow that Broke the Plains" is headed for the junk heap.

It was put on the skids when the house appropriations committee scuttled the $106,000 budget of the United States film service on a parliamentary technicality. The only hope for the agency is the senate, which can restore the fund.

The United States film service is one of the least expensive and most widely acclaimed educational activities of the government. Under the direction of brilliant young Pare Lorentz, it has produced three world-famous movies, of which "The Plow" depicting the agricultural history of the western plains, was the first. Produced in 1936, it created an artistic sensation. Since then it has been seen by more than 25,000,000 people.

Lorentz' second picture, "The River," a dramatic story of the Mississippi river, was an even greater hit. Critics called it the best documentary picture ever produced, and at the 1938 international exposition of cinematographic art in Venice it won first prize among 71 competing entries.

Lorentz' third picture, recently released, "The Fight for Life," is a film about childbirth and maternal welfare based on the best-seller by Dr. Paul de Kruif. De Kruif turned down a fat Hollywood offer for the movie rights in order to give them gratis to the government. After the picture's premiere in Manhattan, the New York Times declared, "We wish there were some form of Pulitzer award for the kind of cinema journalism Mr. Lorentz has been doing."

Note—Lorentz, who gets $10,000 a year, has turned down Hollywood offers as high as $50,000 for one picture. Representative Malcolm Tarver, economy-minded Georgian who raised the technicality against the film service appropriation, is not so economy-minded in his own affairs. He has a son, Malcolm, Jr., on the congressional payroll as his secretary at $3,300 a year.

POLITICAL CHAFF

Louisiana insiders predict that after the April 16 referendum on the Huey Long sales tax, which they say is certain to be repealed, Mayor Maestri of New Orleans, the last of the Long moguls still in office, will resign. . . . Politicians are wondering if there is any connection between the editorial in the current "Fortune" boosting Wendell Willkie, No. 1 utility foe of the New Deal, for president and the fact that Russell Davenport, managing editor of the ritzy magazine, has taken a three months leave of absence to mastermind Willkie's campaign. . . . New Dealers are urging John P. Devaney, former chief justice of the Minnesota Supreme court, to become the Democratic candidate against Senator Henrik Shipstead, who hasn't decided yet whether to run for re-election under his Farmer-Labor label, or as an independent.

Shipstead asked for committee assignments as a Republican, and since then has generally voted with them on major issues.

Copper-nickel alloy was first used for coinage by Belgium in 1860. It was adopted by the United States in 1865 for a three cent piece, and later used for the five cent piece, known today as the "nickel."

Montana's copper mines have yielded almost seven billion pounds of ore, representing almost 47 per cent of the total output in the United States since 1845.

A Bystander In Washington

BY JACK STINNETT

Washington—Note to several million fly-fishers: Talbott Denmead of the bureau of fisheries says that by May, in nearly all states, what should be one of the best of recent trout seasons will be under way. But watch the opening dates. Every trout state has one, except Maine, where the law reads: "The season's open 'when the ice goes out.'"

Stinnett

Babe Baiter: William O. Douglas is undoubtedly the only man ever to move from right-field bleachers of Yankee Stadium to the bench of the United States Supreme Court. When the associate justice was practicing law in New York and living in Westchester, he used to slip over to the stadium at every opportunity and park in the bleachers, where he, with a hundred others, daily kept up a running barrage of rifle-wit repartee with Babe Ruth.

"How we would shout," says the associate justice, "when the Babe would shake his fist at us or raise his cap and grin."

Sartorial item: Presidential Candidate Paul McNutt is the best-dressed man in the capital—never puts on a suit that hasn't been freshly pressed.

Man of title: Persons visiting the senate halls or cloakrooms often are startled when some one hails merrily: "How do you do, Mr. President?"—"Hello, Mr. President." They whirl around to find themselves staring at John Nance Garner. The hangers are not, of course, optimistic friends being premature about the vice president's presidential prospects. They merely are paying him his due as president of the senate.

Fashion note: Maybe I'm behind times. It wasn't in Hollywood and it wasn't in New York but in a Washington hotel lobby that I noticed two handsomely dressed young women in widow's weeds, black veils covering their faces, and on their long shapely fingernails, black nail polish.

Politics: My admiration for James J. Sweeney continues to mount. Mr. Sweeney, you remember, is the man in the attorney general's office who upset the District of Columbia's taxation system because he was willing to do legal battle for two years and spend a thousand dollars or so getting back 88 cents the District attorney had illegally assessed him.

It wasn't Mr. Sweeney's first fight, either. Fifteen years ago, in hometown Boston, Mr. Sweeney figured he'd get into politics. With only $13 in his pocket, he set out to smash the Democratic machine and get himself elected appointment commissioner. Mr. Sweeney gave the machine the scare of their lives. He only missed by 300 votes. "Maybe," he says reminiscently, "I should have spent all of my $13."

International trade: Henry A. Wallace's Department of Agriculture is taking a poke at Japan. They are cutting off its $3,000,000-a-year Easter lily bulb business. After several years of experimenting at Beltsville, Md., the bureau of plant industry has finally developed domestic bulbs of better quality for forcing in greenhouses than any imported bulbs. That means that the backyard lily bulb farmers of Louisiana, the South Atlantic states and Washington and Oregon are now going to get that three million a year that has been going to Japan.

Speaking of Japan, I pointed out to a son of Nippon the other day that the Japanese Imperial army maintains offices in New York and asked him if that were for enlistments.

"No," he said, beaming disarmingly. "That's for buying and spying."

Looking Backward

10 YEARS AGO

Wednesday, April 2, 1930

A new mayor, three new aldermen and a new school commissioner were to enter the city and school administrations as the result of Tuesday's election.

Mayor Albert C. Rule was defeated for reelection by John Goodland, Jr., who served as mayor for a term preceding Rule, Goodland winning by 279 votes.

Three sitting councilmen were defeated for reelection. They were George Brautigam of the Fourth ward, who lost to C. C. Wassenberg, 445 to 436; Harvey Priebe of the Fifth ward, who was eliminated by Richard Groth, 1,016 to 721, and Richard Refke of the Sixth ward, who was defeated by Harvey Kittner, 1,064 to 535.

Alfred C. Bosser won a close race for city attorney from Frank Wheeler, Bosser holding his office by 247 votes.

John Trautman was to replace C. T. Mace on the school board. Seymour Gmeiner and Thomas Ryan were returned as school commissioners.

25 YEARS AGO

Wednesday, April 7, 1915

Latest reports indicated the election of E. V. Werner of Shawano for the circuit judgeship by a plurality of 500 over F. J. Rooney of Appleton.

A. M. Spencer was elected municipal judge the previous day over Theodore Berg and Humphrey Pierce.

August Gerlach was elected city commissioner over John Goodland, Jr., by a majority of 389.

In the biggest vote ever cast in a municipal election in Chicago, William Hale Thompson was elected mayor in a Republican landslide.

The Lakeshore train from Hortonville was delayed two hours that morning on account of a defective engine at Greenville. It was necessary to send to Appleton for a new engine.

Rural postal routes maintained in the U. S. in 1939 totalled 32,839 and served 7,717,000 families.

Under the Capitol Dome

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison—The federal trade commission in Washington last week announced with a heavy splash of charge, however, was the part played by a small group of men in the state department of agriculture, who without fanfare and almost in secrecy, have been urging federal agencies, including the anti-trust division of the department of justice, to take precisely the step taken by the FTC last week.

While some loud critics were blasting the department for its inactivity—and the Danc county board has carried on a prolonged campaign in that direction—Director Ralph E. Ammon and men like William Kirsch were carrying on a constant correspondence with Wisconsin members of congress and staff men of the trade commission to insist that the federal government is the only agency of government which can handle the dairy monopoly question, if there is such a question.

Now that action has been obtained from Washington, the state authorities must be given a share of the credit, particularly since they are encouraging an expansion of the present inquiry into the foreign cheese field to the American cheese industry, in which the farmers of Wisconsin have a gigantic economic stake.

HEIL'S ABSENCE

Unless August Frey of the Heil administration's research bureau returns from Florida soon, some capitol quarters are going to wonder if his standing in the Heil regime is as secure as it once was.

Already stories are appearing in Madison newspapers speculating on his continued absence, while reports go around the capitol that he has quarreled frequently and bitterly with men high in the administration who may mean more to the chief, Mr. Heil, than does Mr. Frey.

DEADLINE PRESSURE

Although the auto license registration deadline this year was a full month later than in previous years, the executive office over the weekend and on Monday of this week got dozens of requests to persuade Col. Rickman of the license bureau to extend it again.

This year the ingenious argument was made that many farmers who delayed getting their plates would not be able to drive to the polls Tuesday, and that extension would be a shrewd political move for the administration.

CHARLEY DOW

"Impressive evidence of the place Charles M. Dow, pioneer Progressive who died last weekend, held in the Progressive party was given at his funeral here. Practically every Progressive leader of any consequence sat in the funeral chapel to hear his life and deeds extolled, and sat with a good many ordinary folks to form a throng which filled the room to overflowing."

POT-POURRI

You can expect the Progressive publicity channels to pour forth profusely on the appointment of a utility employee to the directorship of the state utilities commission. . . . There has been a suggestion from local Progressives that John W. Reynolds of Green Bay, former attorney general, be a candidate for congress in the Eighth district. . . . Some people are wondering why Gov. Heil has publicly praised Chairman W. E. O'Brien at every opportunity during the last few months. . . .

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

FIXED OBSESSIONS

When Dr. Wm. Osler had become famous as physician, author, teacher, he noticed that his aging mother was, well, not so strong as she had been, and the doctor recommended that she take a wee drop of wine. Excellent therapeutics that, in my estimation—and you know I'm a rabid anti-alcoholic! Probably the demipotent felt abashed but she only sighed and said, "No, Willie, I might get the habit." President Roosevelt's mother (Graciosa Lady, Dr. Appleton-Century Co.) has always believed that "had he bathed and put on dry clothes" instead of sitting down in his wet bathing suit to read his mail, after a swim in the Bay of Fundy and a two mile race with his children back to the Campobello cottage, "the germ of infantile paralysis" might never have developed.

Maybe it is ungentlemanly and unkind to apply the term in this instance, but I guess there is no gainsaying the pervasiveness of most presidents. Dr. Osler's nor the president's has anything on mine in that respect. Mother still sushes me whenever I, you know, attempt to sustain my thesis on the effects of dampness and exposure on human health.

Some people—you can pick them out of a crowd—never get their necks wet if they can help it. Others worry themselves almost sick if they get their necks wet almost anywhere else than in a bathroom. There was the case of a prominent citizen who was out in the snow in a cold northeast wind for five hours one December day. The men had never been particularly afraid of the weather. He did feel a little chilly when he got home, he admitted but to the observation of a member of his family that there was snow on his collar and on his neck, he replied that his overcoat had kept him dry enough.

Sounds ominous so far, if you're past fifty psychologically. Sure enough, the man sat down to dinner without waiting to change to dry clothes. Well, next day (Friday) the man had what he and his friends called a severe cold. But still he went out for a little while putting about the estate. . . . Later in the day he became quite hoarse, and about 2 o'clock next morning he awoke with a cold and told her he had a chill. She was all for getting up and during something, but the man dissuaded her lest she take cold.

To make a sad story simple, the man died at about ten o'clock Saturday night. There was such a to-do concerning the death, dampness, cold and the like that the nature of the illness and the actual cause of death never was revealed. Was it pneumonia, angina, diphtheria, loss of blood? Any doctor's guess is as good as mine. The secret lies with the man's bones in a tomb at Mt. Vernon.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Green Apple Myth

U. S. Dispensary 02 to .05 grain of arsenic may be given three times a day medicinally. You'd have to eat two to five pounds of apples, skin, cores and all, to get that much arsenic, according to the amount the government permits in spray residues. I submit that one green apple, without arsenic spray, will cause more misery than all the fruit with arsenic spray residue one could eat. (A. G. P.)

Answer—That green apples cause any trouble at all is merely an old myth. I like to eat apples and some other fruit, skin and all, but I prefer to see that the fruit is thoroughly washed to remove any lead or arsenic left on it by spraying.

Credulous Women

Please, can't you have an occasional article enlightening credulous women who worry about the "change" until they are almost sick from worry. . . . I was one of them, and I wish some one might have knocked the silly idea out of my head. (Mrs. A. T.)

Answer—I never neglect an opportunity to combat that notion. Glad to send any woman who asks for it and provides stamped envelope bearing her address a monograph on "Menopause."

Fruit and Digestion

Dr. specialist lecturing at lunch club said fruit should never be served as first course of breakfast, as it provokes secretion of wrong kind of gastric juice and thus prevents proper digestion of the remainder of the meal. (Mrs. C. E. F.)

Answer—It is primarily a question of individual taste—if you like fruit as first course enjoy it then and don't get your digestion down worrying what the trick specialists say.

Rolls Before Breakfast

Please explain what you mean by "Rolls before breakfast." Is it a diet or what? (S. M.)

Answer—Somebody! Send stamped envelope bearing your address and ask for By-Laws of Somers-aullauqua

The bidding:
East South West North
1 spade Pass 1 heart Pass
2 spades Pass 3 diamonds Double
3 hearts Double Pass
4 spades Pass Pass Double
Pass Pass Pass Pass

"East contends my second bid also should have been hearts instead of diamonds to show more positive strength in the suit in which case he would have left in the double. Also, since two suits already had been doubled, it was not logical that an outstanding length in spades would be held by the opponents. Incidentally, after looking over the hands, one can readily see thru North's diamond double, a mere ploy to force an other spade bid."

"I claim the blame rests on East for taking out the double. When I had at no time raised spades, my reason for showing the diamond suit on the second round was the possibility of a no trump fit. "South opened a low heart. North shifted to a club after ruffing, and the first six tricks were rattled off before East got his breath. Of course, the ace of trump also was conceded."

"We would appreciate your comment, Mrs. B.W.G., New York." Just one more case (No. 6,754,832, I imagine) of the guilty party reproaching his victim. I publish this hand because it is an all too common illustration of the indecisiveness to be found at many bridge tables. East's bidding was typical of the player who cannot make up his own mind, but must have it made up for him by the opponents. After West's three diamond bid and North's double, there was (presumably) no doubt in East's mind as to the correctness of his three heart preference bid. But when this met with a double from South, East decided to change his horses and make a pure "stab" at his own magnificent spade suit. That he had bid this suit twice and found no encouragement from West, apparently had little influence on him. Admittedly a five card suit headed by a K-Q-J is worth a rebid, but when partner having heard those bids refuses to raise that suit even in order to escape from a double, it is a safe bet that he has an acute dislike for that denomination. West's bidding showed a very fair hand; without it he would have passed to the two spades. A two-over-one takeout (viz., West's two heart take out of one spade) strongly suggests a five card suit, hence there was no need for East to be panicky on that score.

Summing up then, it should be obvious that the fault in this matter lay entirely on East's shoulders. At three hearts, reasonably good play on West's part would either have brought home the contract, or, depending on the defense, gone down one trick.

THE HOME GARDENER

by EDWIN H. PERKINS

Late killing frosts are enemies to the person trying to steal a march on time by planting outdoors before a safe time for his locality. If he succeeds in outguessing the weather, his garden is weeks ahead. Some venturesome gardeners regularly gain this time but all of them have ready, at their fingertips, a means for protecting the plants when the frost arrives. In addition, they study weather conditions.

Popular with these gardeners are tent-like arrangements made from wax or other transparent paper. A greenhouse tent is provided for every plant to be saved. It slips over the plant, being held down by sprinkling soil on its edges. A sheet of newspaper can be used for protecting seedlings sown in rows. The paper is arched in the center over the seedlings, with the edges of the paper held down in the rows by stones or soil.

If you must cheat on the weather, acquaint yourself with conditions that suggest frost. Weather comes in waves, consequently an

Beauty and You

by PATRICIA LINDSAY

Charming NOEL MILLS delights a vast radio audience with her dramatic interpretations. She stresses health as the nucleus of success.

From the age of three, pretty Noel Mills, youthful and successful radio actress, has been disciplined. Her mother has taught her the valuable lesson of self-reliance and has constantly reminded Noel that no girl can be successful or happy unless she keeps healthy!

"That," claims Noel, "is why I think of health first, and career secondly." Fortunately Noel has been endowed with abundant vitality, but she is wise enough never to slacken in her daily routine which preserves her health and beauty.

In the morning she takes a cool shower, walks a brisk mile, rain or shine. She eats moderately but regularly, and highly praises the "One-Two-Three Diet," offered through this column. The diet is laid out for three "pattern" days which are repeated in rotation. The first day is liquid day, the second is a fruit and vegetable day, and the third—a day when she can join her family or friends in a hearty meal with roast beef and potato!

Exercises Consistently
This slim, attractive, blue-eyed blonde, believes in vigorous sports for young girls. She bowls, rides, swims, skis and ice-skates. Since she hails from Canada her favorite sports are those which come with winter.

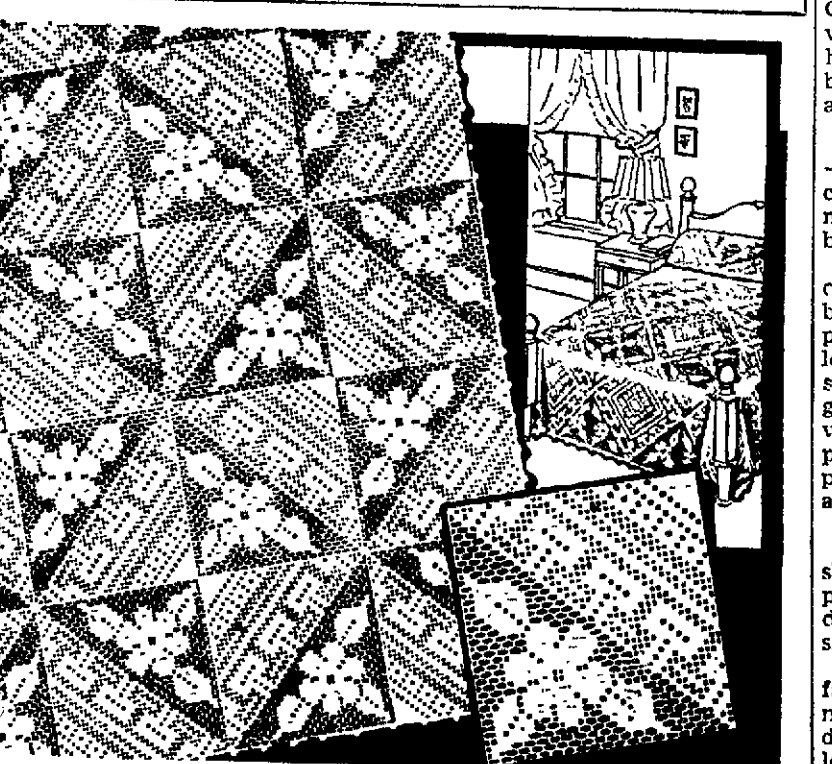

When busy weeks come along, and most of her time is taken up rehearsing in the studio or playing on programs, Noel resorts to home exercises to keep her vitality up to par. She cannot understand girls who look upon exercise as a hardship. She enjoys exercising, and admits she doesn't feel quite herself if a day passes without permitting her time to exercise. She loves dancing, too, and when she goes out in the evening, she invariably gets in a few dances before going home.

Dance Training When Young
When Noel was only three years old, her mother decided that she should study ballet to gain poise and a pretty figure. In fact, her mother had hoped that Noel would embrace the ballet for a career, but she isn't the least bit regretful that Noel has chosen acting instead. Her ballet training was her first lesson in balance and self reliance. She works hard at her acting now and is very grateful for the surprising success which she has had on the air.

Because she is young she dresses to suit her years, likes casual clothes and soft make-up. Her exquisite complexion is due partly to abnormally warm spell during spring is liable to be followed by suddenly dropping temperatures. Clear skies improve chances for frost through increased radiation. A still clear air with steadily falling temperatures in the late afternoon is a good sign that killing weather is on its way. The passing of storms with followed by "clearing and colder" bulletins are almost certain indications that the venturesome one had better wrap up his tender plants for several nights.

Teaching Accuracy Helps Improve Child's Character

BY ANGELO PATRI

In the old schools an example in arithmetic was not finished and would not be marked correct until it had been proven right by the pupil. It was a good way to train children to accuracy, and I believe it helped to train them to ways of right thinking and behavior.

In the hurried modern school more time is spent on testing for speed than on working for accuracy. Accuracy comes before speed. What's the good in being fast to make a mistake? There is only one right answer in an arithmetic table. When a child knows it thoroughly he will give the answer speedily and when he has given the answer a sufficient number of times correctly it will become an automatic response, as fast as it can come. The accuracy must come first, however, then correct practice brings speed. Speed can wait.

In this hurry time, time that used to be used in proving work had to be sacrificed to speed drills, so the value of steady, leisurely work and the thoroughness that was produced in the old process were lost. With that loss went, I believe, something valuable in character training.

I believe that skill in arithmetic is not carried over to skill in language or history. I believe that pupils have different degrees of power in different subjects and that the difference of power remains relative through the years of study. But I sincerely believe that the attitude the pupil takes toward any subject will affect his attitude toward all. If, for example, he is trained to be accurate, honest, thorough, proving his work before calling it finished, in arithmetic, in all forms of mathematics, that attitude of honesty, thoroughness and rightness will carry over not only to the other lessons but into his whole conduct.

I don't believe that you can keep a child checking his work, searching for the right answer, keeping at it until he proves beyond doubt he is right, without affecting his character. He will be likely to be accurate and honest, to prove things to be right or wrong before considering them settled. He will not be likely to take answers at their face value and he will be likely to examine them and prove them before accepting them.

I would rather the children in the elementary grades worked slowly and steadily toward accuracy, proving their work as they went, than that they popped out answers to number combinations to the time of a stop watch. I would rather they worked one problem, and proved themselves in the right, than they did a sheet of them without checking them, without really knowing whether they were right or wrong until the teacher said so. They ought to know themselves before handing in their work, without the teacher's decision, whether they had succeeded or failed.

If the elementary schools took for their motto, "Prove all things; hold fast to that which is good," I believe that not only would the character of the school work improve, but the characters of the children would be greatly strengthened.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and teachers regarding the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three-cent stamp, addressed envelope for reply.

Man Who Swaps Old Wife For New One to be Pitied

BY DOROTHY DIX

When an elderly man swaps an old wife for a new one, public sympathy goes to the abandoned woman who has borne her husband's children and toiled and scrimped to help him make his fortune and who is ruthlessly cast aside for a fresher and fairer face.

But, in reality, your pity should go to the man who makes so sorry a bargain. For of all the unhappy people in the world none are so hopelessly miserable as the old husbands of young wives with whom they have not a single thought or idea in common and who, they know only too well, married them solely for their money.

Worse still, the old husband is filled with self-contempt for having been so easily gypped by a mere girl. He who has held his own with the shrewdest traders in the business world, whose eyes have seen through the cleverest schemes of those who sought to exploit him, has been befuddled by a little gold-digger who has sold him the idea that he was still a mere boy, far too young for his wife, and that if only he was married to her they would be two merry, carefree children playing together.

How he ever could have fallen for this pipe dream, how he ever could have deceived himself into believing that a young girl would prefer a man old enough to be her father to one of her own age, he cannot imagine. He only knows, he believed it because he wanted to believe it. And he curses himself for his folly and his blindness.

For the awakening comes soon. The little flare-up of youth that made the man an easy victim for any predatory good-looker is a false fire that soon burns out, and the man wants to go back to domesticity and be his age. He wants his own fireside, the quiet and comforts of a home and somebody to bear him company. But this is not what the young wife married him for. She wants her fling. She wants night clubs and parties and rushing about from one place of amusement to another. The old husband soon finds himself worn to a frazzle and his only part in the scheme is to sit on the sidelines and pay the bills while his wife plays about with boys.

When they try to talk they bore each other to tears, for they have no common memories, no experiences that they have shared together, no mutual friends, no similar points of view, none of the ties that bind. Then the old man thinks with passionate regret of the wife whose love for him had never faltered through all the years. Who had struggled with him. Who had no thought no interest except in him, and of the children whom he has alienated from him by his treatment of their mother. Of the old friends who treat him with scarcely veiled scorn, and who know that he has sold his birthright for a mess of pottage, and it is bitter in his mouth.

A man who has made this terrible mistake of trading off an old wife for a new one writes me:

"Whenever I see a middle-aged or elderly husband and wife going out somewhere together, or sitting quietly talking, or silent in a companionable way that does not even need speech because they know what each other is thinking, I have to turn my head aside to hide my tears. For I might have been enjoying that happy fate instead of being a lonely and remorseful old man."

"For I had one of the best wives with whom any man could ever be blessed, a wife who adored me, who was true as steel, and we were growing old happily together when my office began flatter and cajoling me and telling me how handsome and young I was and that she was in love with me. Almost before I knew it she had forced me into making my wife give me a divorce so she could marry me."

"We had not been married a month before I realized that I had wrecked not only my former wife's life but also mine more completely than hers. For she had the children and the respect of the community, while I had nothing but a never-ending longing to be back with her again. I knew that she was the only woman whom I could ever love."

"Believe me, no men are such fools as those who trade off old wives for new."

Advice to Young Man Who Wants More Pay
Dear Miss Dix: I am a young man of 20 I have been working for the same employer for the last two and a half years and have given good service, but my salary is so small that I am unable to live on it. My boss' business is good, so he could afford to pay me what I earn. What shall I do?

DESPERATE YOUNG MAN.

Answer:
Ask for a raise in salary. If your employer refuses to give it, look out for a better job, but don't throw up your present one until you see something better ahead. When you have a job it is easier to get another one than it is if you are out of work.

And don't forget this: When a boy goes to work he is green and inefficient and has to be trained to do whatever work he undertakes, so if you will charge up your business education that you are receiving you will find that you are not so ill-paid after all. The reason you will be able to get a better job will be because you have had experience in your present job.

My Neighbor Says—

CASE RECORDS OF A PSYCHOLOGIST

By Dr. George W. Crane

Psychologist, Northwestern University

One of the chief reasons for the decline of the Roman Empire was the swarm of political parasites which sucked the vitality from the body politic. Today we need a governmental de-lousing of such parasites who weave fettering webs of red tape which will ultimately blind American business much as the Lilliputians bound Gulliver to the ground with their numerous tiny ropes.

Case Q-127: Hamilton J., aged 42 is a business executive. "Our sturdy American form of government is growing feeble with each succeeding decade," he announced.

"It is becoming weaker because all successful government must rest upon a sound economic system. At present, American business is being slowly drained of its oldtime vigor by hundreds of overlapping taxes and the necessity for keeping so many records and so much red tape, that we haven't time or money for creative work, manufacturing, laboratory research and the like."

"You might be interested in knowing that here in Illinois a business man must keep as high as 153 different records weekly, monthly or annually regarding his employees and his business transactions. "How can business flourish when it is being hamstrung by so many petty details which demand time and energy? Instead of devoting our efforts to building new factories, evolving new products or inventions, and training new salesmen, we must waste our energies recording what we have done in the past, instead of planning what we expect to do in the future."

Diagnosis: There are two good methods for ruining a nation and killing a democratic form of government. One is the dramatic method of revolution within, or the subjugation by a hostile power from without.

The other is by the "drip" method whereby the nation's vitality ebbs away, drop by drop. Those of you who have lived on the farm, may recall the fact that chicken lice may sap the vitality of a hen or rooster until the fowl dies from anemia. The chicken is just as dead after such a process as if it had been dramatically killed by a mauling fox or the farmer's ax."

Parasites on Business
Hamilton is not far wrong when he says this nation has reached the point where red tape and parasitic taxation are producing severe anemia in our body politic.

Too many people are trying to live off each other instead of by creating new products. The farmer, however, lives off the soil. The fisherman off the sea. The miner by creative excavating. The machinist and factory worker by creative manufacturing.

But millions of people are doing little creative work. They are being supported on the shoulders of the majority who are creating the new ideas and merchandise.

Here in Illinois, for example, we have tens of thousands of political jobholders just to collect the Social Security funds alone. It is time that we did a de-lousing of our body politic, and lopped off every unnecessary job holder. A goodly share of such Social Security taxes go to pay political parasites instead of to pensioned veterans.

How to Economize in Government
Thomas Jefferson decided the federal budget should be balanced, so he radically curtailed the army and navy. He balanced the budget and we are still an independent republic, despite many warmongers in his day who wanted heavy appropriations for armaments.

We now have an unnecessary amount of overlapping tax boards. We have too many bureaus which write voluminous descriptive booklets and reports that aren't important enough to warrant the outlay of taxes.

Many of our county offices could also be eliminated, as by mergers. With the auto and radio, for instance, one sheriff can now handle five counties as easily as he could a single county in the horse and buggy days. We need more science in government and less hot air.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing or printing costs when you seek personal advice or one of his psychological charts.)

Chapter 33

THE MAN IN THE GARAGE

I couldn't hear what the Sergeant said on the telephone and while he was talking Ishi poured the coffee. I sipped it gratefully. It was warm and comfortable in the shop and I felt drowsy. Mr. Kimball took a cup of coffee from Ishi and bent over to talk to Dirck. "I don't believe that Whitefield knew Joan at all," he said in a low voice. "He can't be the man."

Dirck rubbed his forehead wearily. "It's hard to tell," he said. "The most amazing things crop up, things you wouldn't believe."

His voice made me feel shivery. Mr. Kimball and I both eyed him curiously, but neither of us said anything and the Sergeant completed his call then. He drank a cup of coffee hastily and left the shop. Jim Lathrop came over to us and took the Sergeant's chair. "It's terrible," he said. "I can't believe it yet. Have you any idea what could have happened to Richard to make him do such a thing?" He looked at Dirck, his face miserable.

Dirck shook his head. "I've been nearly frantic," Tim Lathrop went on. "The time since Monday evening has been like a bad dream."

Mr. Kimball bent forward. "How is your wife, Tim?" "A little better," he hesitated. "The Sergeant talked with her this afternoon for a few minutes." We were silent for a long moment, each one of us wondering what the Sergeant heard from Louise Lathrop.

Then Dirck rose. "We'd better get some dinner, Chris." We went to the Knife and Fork, but it wasn't a very successful dinner. Dirck read the paper, eating little and I attacked the wheat cakes without enthusiasm, even though we'd had no lunch. Meals at the Knife and Fork were getting too frequent to be stimulating. Finally Dirck removed his face from behind the paper and said we'd better be running along. I had nothing to run for, but he apparently had something on his mind, so he took me back to the house and stood there for a moment.

"I know what you're going to say," I said to him. "Don't let me worry you, Chris, but for God's sake be careful. Stay in your room and don't go prowling around!" "Wrong again," he laughed. "Our friends, the Sergeant, has a man flowers, running through a wide range of colors."

Give a crusty top to baked custard. When the custard is half done sprinkle a thin layer of crumbled cake, macaroon or sugar cookie over the top. Drop the crumbs lightly or they will mix into the custard.

Chopped mint blends with fresh strawberries and sliced apple. Add two tablespoons of mint for each three cups of fruit. Serve as an appetizer, salad or dessert.

Give your window screens a coat of thin screen enamel. Doing so will not obstruct vision from the inside, but will make vision from the outside less clear.

JUMPER OUTFIT

Pattern 4314

BY ANNE ADAMS

You'll find a whole spring-into-summer wardrobe for kiddies in Pattern 4314! This practical, gay Anne Adams style makes both a playdress and a jumper ensemble. The jumper and sun-frock are cut on identical lines, with blithely flared, one-piece easy-make skirts and jaunty back buttonings. The bodices form smart points wherever they meet the sturdy straps. Let the dainty blouse have a collar or gay frills and bows. Make the sleeves either pretty puffed or long and full. Then top off the jumper outfit with an elfin cap to match. Bloomers are also included in this "must have" style for your little girl.

Pattern 4314 is available in children's sizes 2, 4, 6, 8 and 10. Size 6, sundress and bloomers, takes 2 1/2 yards 35 inch fabric; jumper and cap 1 1/2 yards 35 inch fabric; blouse, 3 yard contrast.

Send fifteen cents (15c) in coins for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly size, name, address and style number.

Send your order to Appleton Post-Crescent, Pattern Department, 243 West 11th St., New York, N. Y.

to me. "How long have you been hearing it, Miss Howarth?"

I shook my head. "It may have been ten minutes or half an hour. I don't know."

For a moment the two men stared at each other.

"Quick!" Norton said, and they were out of the room and down the stairs before I realized it. From the window I could see them as they crossed the path, but in the darkness I couldn't see the garage. I stood there about five minutes. I guess, and still they didn't come back. So, slipping on my coat, I ran downstairs. Ishi was just leaving the shop and I begged him to find out what was the matter.

He seemed to be none hours, and he came in looking shaken, but finally the shop door opened and for once he wasn't smiling. He just stared at me.

"Ishi, what is it?" I gasped. "Miss Howarth," he said, swallowing with great difficulty. "In the garage—there is a man—I believe he is dead."

Unintelligible
My throat was dry I couldn't say a word. I sat down in a chair and thought wildly that at the rate it kept up, in another day all of us would be dead.

Ishi stood before me, showing no emotion except that his eyes were bright and fearful. He was muttering something that I couldn't understand.

I tried to be calm. "Who is the man?"

"I did not stay to see. The body was lying in the car," he said stiffly. "It is a man. That is all."

Michigan on Republican Side As Presidential Campaign Gets Underway, Survey Indicates

BY DR. GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

Princeton, N. J.—As the American people begin to choose sides for another presidential campaign, the surveys of the American Institute of Public Opinion indicate that Michigan, with its 19 electoral votes, is leaning to the Republicans at this time.

Not until next summer will Michigan voters know the identities of the two presidential candidates, but the Institute's surveys show that approximately 54 Michigan voters in every hundred with opinions on the party contest today favor a Republican administration in Washington. A cross-section of Michigan voters were asked: "Which party would you like to see win the presidential election?" The vote of those with opinions on the question was:

| | Pct. |
|-----------------------------|------|
| Favoring Republican Victory | 54 |
| Favoring Democratic Victory | 46 |

About one voter in seven (14 per cent) said he was undecided about his party choice at present.

Eight States On Record

So far in the Institute's preview of the 1940 election, party standings have been reported in eight states. With Michigan on the Republican side at this time are New Jersey, Massachusetts and Iowa. In-

Political Box Score

In a pre-convention preview of the 1940 Presidential race the Gallup Poll is asking voters in each state: "Which party would you like to see win the Presidential election?" Following are the results for eight states reported thus far:

LEANING DEMOCRATIC

| Electoral Votes | |
|-----------------|----|
| New York | 47 |
| Pennsylvania | 36 |
| California | 22 |
| Minnesota | 11 |

LEANING REPUBLICAN

| Electoral Votes | |
|-----------------|----|
| New Jersey | 16 |
| Massachusetts | 17 |
| Iowa | 11 |
| Michigan | 19 |
| | 63 |

stitute studies show, while New York, Pennsylvania, Minnesota and California are leaning to the Democrats.

Although the weight of electoral votes in these eight states favors the Democrats (116 electoral votes to 63) it is too early to be sure of the present electoral picture in the country at large. What does appear from a study of these eight states is that the strength of the Democratic party has suffered a sharp decline as compared with President Roosevelt's vote in 1936.

Four years ago Michigan cast 59 per cent of its major party vote for Mr. Roosevelt, but today's survey shows the Democratic party with only 46 per cent of the preference vote—a drop of 13 points.

In the other seven states the Democratic drop has been as follows: New York, 7 points; Pennsylvania, 7 points; New Jersey, 13 points; Massachusetts, 9 points; Iowa, 10 points; Minnesota, 10 points; and California, 10 points.

In Michigan, the survey shows, Republican strength is almost exactly what it proved to be in the 1936 mid-term elections, when the Republican gubernatorial candidate, Frank D. Fitzgerald, since deceased, received 53 per cent of the state vote. Republican Congressional candidates averaged 54 per cent of the state throughout the state.

Now Against 3rd Term
If President Roosevelt should be the Democratic candidate again, could the Democrats repeat their Michigan triumphs of 1932 and 1936? That is one of the questions in the minds of party leaders in both camps today.

The Institute's tests show that although Mr. Roosevelt is approved by 63 per cent of Michigan voters as a second-term President, only 40 per cent say they are ready—at this time—to vote for Roosevelt for a third term.

"If President Roosevelt runs for a third term, will you vote for him?" voters were asked. Their replies were:

| | Pct. |
|-----------------------------|------|
| Would Vote for 3rd Term | 40 |
| Would Not Vote for 3rd Term | 60 |

Nine per cent of those interviewed said they were undecided on the question. Much would depend on the Republicans next June, on the course of the war abroad, and on the kind of campaign waged by the Democrats, but the indications are that President Roosevelt would face an uphill struggle in a third term fight in Michigan at this time.

2 Farms Change Hands In Realty Transactions

Two farms in Outagamie county have changed hands in recent real estate transactions. Rudolph Paul has purchased a 60-acre farm in the town of Black Creek from Gustave Knoll. Robert E. Lauer purchased an 80-acre farm in the town of Cicero from Edith Nielt and sold it to Norman C. Nelson. Henry Otto Wojahn has purchased a house and part of two lots in the town of Grand Chute from A. W. Laabs, et al. The real estate transfers have been filed at the office of Stephen M. Peeters, county register of deeds.

34 Marriage Licenses Issued During March

Dan Cupid found the mild temperatures of March more to his liking with a result that there was a marked increase in the number of marriage licenses issued during the period over February at the office of John E. Hantschel, county clerk. A total of 34 was issued in March as against 10 in February. Last year 32 marriage licenses were issued in the county during March.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pints of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 10¢ and 25¢. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

'King Cole' Carries Show as Clare Tree Major Players End Children's Drama Season

BY NELL CHAMBERLAIN
KING COLE who looked every inch a king, and there were plenty of inches, particularly around the waistline, carried the entire performance of the Clare Tree Major play of that name on his ample shoulders yesterday afternoon at Lawrence Memorial chapel. Rotund, round-faced and jolly, he was the very counterpart of the nursery rhyme character described as "a merry old soul," and his good-natured chuckle and hearty laugh brought a similar response from his youthful audience.

Yesterday's play failed to hold the attention of the children as "Pocahontas" and some of the previous plays have done, probably because there was less story to go on.

Moose Lodge Names Nowell New Governor

WILLIAM Nowell, Jr., is the new governor of Loyal Order of Moose as the result of election at the local lodge meeting Tuesday night at Moose hall. Arthur A. Melby was chosen junior governor, Raymond Karweick, prelate; Adrian E. Gervis, secretary; and William Nowell, Sr., treasurer.

Other officers are Alphonse Koerner, trustee, and C. N. Bowley, delegate to the supreme lodge convention. Installation will take place April 28.

Next Tuesday night the new regional director, Charles Kennedy, will make his first visit to Appleton lodge. A program of entertainment has been planned.

Installation of officers will take place at the meeting of John F. Rose chapter, Order of De Molay, at 7:45 Thursday night at Masonic temple. Instrumental selections will be given by members, and Willard D. Isham, head of De Molay activities in Wisconsin, will be a guest. Parents, Masons and friends are invited to attend.

Plans for a public card party April 30 at Appleton Woman's club were discussed at the meeting of Ladies auxiliary to Wisconsin Paid Firemen's association Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Edwin Kline, 913 E. Pacific street. A cash prize will be given at each table. Cards were played after the meeting yesterday, prizes at schafskopf going to Mrs. Elmer Brockman and Mrs. Joseph Lucia and at dice to Mrs. Nick Reider. For the next meeting May 7 Mrs. E. W. Turney, 1222 S. Jefferson street, will be hostess.

Officers of White Shrine will be installed at an open ceremony next Monday night at Masonic temple following a 6:30 dinner. Gilbert Walberg, Kaukauna, will be soloist for the installation and Appleton Woman's club chorus will sing.

The dinner committee includes Mrs. L. E. Jesse, chairman; Mrs. Harlow Wickert and Mrs. Jennie Basing, and Job's Daughters will act as a dining room committee.

Masonic history was the subject of a talk given by W. A. Olin, Clintonville, at the meeting of Waverly lodge, No. 51, Free and Accepted Masons, last night at Masonic temple. About 75 men were present including visitors from New London, Clintonville and Kaukauna. W. E. Smith introduced the speaker.

An invitation was received to go to Kaukauna April 15 for the annual dedication service of Kaukauna and Appleton lodges. The semi-annual of the schafskopf tournament was held after the meeting, the master Mason degree will be conferred at a special meeting at 7:15 next Tuesday night.

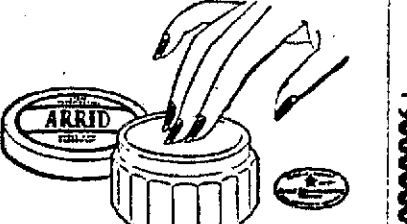

Fedelia Lochr Feted At Pre-Nuptial Party

Miss Fedelia Lochr of St. John, who will become the bride of Marcel Rademacker Monday, April 8, at St. John's Catholic church at St. John, was honored at a 7 o'clock dinner party given last week by Misses Amanda Vogds and Cele Neis at the Retlaw hotel at Fond du Lac.

Those present included Loretta Lochr, Mrs. Leon Kesler, Marie Rademacker, Edna Petrie, Adeline Vogds, Mrs. Albert Schreiner and Mrs. Henry Lochr.

After the dinner cards were played and the bride-to-be received a gift.

The action was slow and there were wordy passages during which the audience became restless and talked among themselves, almost drowning out the voices of the actors. Spontaneous laughs were rather scarce, the only real ones coming during the tug of war over the gold piece which the king's fiddler gives to the servant girl, at the deception of the king disguised as a beggar, when Halim and his sister discover the identity of the king, and at the landlord's confession and pleading.

The king, when he finally donned his regal robes, was an imposing figure in red velvet and ermine and looked more than a little like portraits of Henry VIII.

The climax of the play was satisfactory, bringing to justice the wicked landlord who had murdered the father of the two children and who planned to sell them into slavery.

Last Play of Season
Based on the nursery rhyme of "Old King Cole" the play unfolded the story of a king who likes to go among his people, incognito, and how they live, incidentally seeking a third fiddler for his court. When he comes upon a young boy and his sister who are being mistreated by their master, landlord of an inn, the king rescues them, discovers that their father was once one of his fiddlers, and installs the boy, Halim, as third fiddler at court. The landlord is brought to justice and the children restored to their rightful places.

"Old King Cole" was the last of three plays which Clare Tree Major Children's theater presented in Appleton this season under auspices of Edison Parent-Teacher's association.

Ruth Taylor Is Elected Captain Of Argosy Club

Social Union of Methodist Church to Entertain at Teas

THREE teas, with a different program at each, will be given during April under the auspices of the Social Union of First Methodist church. It was announced at a meeting of the organization yesterday.

The first will be given April 12 at the home of Mrs. Corwin Van Housen, 405 E. Roosevelt street, with Mrs. Herman Heckert as chairman. Miss Lorraine Jung will exhibit her dolls and tell how she makes them.

Hostess at the second tea, scheduled for April 18, will be Mrs. Charles Hopfensperger, 178 River drive. A home organ will be installed by a local music firm for the program, which will be presented by Prof. Cyrus Daniel of the Lawrence Conservatory of Music, assisted by several conservatory soloists. The program that day will be given twice, at 3 o'clock and at 4 o'clock. Mrs. L. R. Watson is chairman of the committee in charge of the tea.

Mrs. James Waga is chairman of the third tea, which will be given April 23 at Mrs. J. R. Whitman's home, 114 S. Alton court. The program will be presented by Mrs. A. M. Johnston, who will speak on "China and Porcelain" and exhibit various items.

All of the teas are scheduled to begin at 2:45, and the programs will be given at 3 o'clock. The chairmen will be assisted by committees of members from each of the nine districts of the Union. Tickets will be sold.

Mrs. George E. Johnston received a life membership in the Women's church Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. J. Ingold, 733 E. College avenue. Mrs. E. J. Watts led devotions. For the next meeting May 7 at the home of Mrs. Ben Rowland, W. Parkway boulevard, Mrs. Ingold will give the book review and Mrs. W. Henry Johnston and Mrs. Donald Porter will assist the hostess.

MARRIAGE LICENSES
Application for a marriage license has been made at the office of John E. Hantschel, Outagamie county clerk, by William Vander Zanden, route 3, Appleton, and Martha Vandenberg, Kimberly.

Mrs. John McNaughton and her daughters, Jean and Margaret, Lakeshore avenue, Neenah, have returned from Florida, where they spent the winter.

Diocesan Rally Of Holy Name Units Planned

CATHOLIC men of Appleton and surrounding communities have received announcements of the biennial Holy Name society's diocesan rally in Manitowoc June 2 and all the parishes of the city plan to send delegations from their societies to attend the rally.

Between 10,000 and 15,000 members of Holy Name societies from the 16 counties in the Green Bay diocese will be in Manitowoc for the rally. Members of their families who will accompany them are expected to swell the number of visitors in this city on that day to some 20,000.

Representative delegations from all of the 265 parishes in the diocese are expected to come for the rally. In most cases the delegations will be headed by the pastors. Features of the rally will be a field mass in the morning, a mammoth parade during the afternoon, in which the full delegation of 15,000 will march, and solemn benediction to conclude the program.

Officers of the rally are Frank Hoffman, chairman; Francis Yindra, former state senator, secretary, and John J. Witzak, treasurer. The Rev. Martin H. Vosbeek of the diocesan offices in Green Bay is spiritual adviser of the societies throughout the diocese, and he will have a prominent part in plans for the rally and in the rally itself. Dr. George T. Hegner, Appleton, is diocesan president and Alois H. Stoebauer, Appleton, secretary-treasurer.

The Holy Name societies of the diocese hold a rally every three years for the purpose of stimulating interest in the society, in Catholic Action, and in activities of the church. Reverence for God's name, united opposition to profanity and obscenity, and loyalty to country are the chief aims of the Holy Name society.

Arrangements will be made for special trains and buses to Manitowoc from all points in the diocese, to convey delegates to the rally.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin J. Grist, 24 Winona court, have returned from a trip to Miami, Fla., and a cruise to Havana, Cuba.

Clintonville Student To Aid With College Vocational Conclave

A Clintonville student, Myron Schilling, will participate in planning the eleventh annual vocational conference at Carleton college, Northfield, Minn., April 10 at the college. He will be student round table leader for engineering. The vocational parley will bring to the campus 25 prominent leaders in business and the professions with a view to bridging the gap between college and jobs.

Among the round table leaders will be former governor Philip La Follette of Madison and Marshall A. Wiley of Chippewa Falls, the former giving the convocation address opening the conference and leading the round table discussion on politics, and the latter leading the discussion on law.

North Shore Golf Club Opens Doors for New Social Season; Century Club Holds 1st Party

NORTH Shore Golf club, closed during March for remodeling and redecorating, opened its doors Tuesday night for the first of the series of spring parties that will continue through this month and next. The dance last night was given by the Century club, its first since before Christmas. About 60 persons came for a buffet supper, and many more came for dancing later on. Among those who entertained at cocktail parties before the affair were Mr. and Mrs. Morrow Herner, E. Winnebago street, who had as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McGowan, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Lindberg, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Fisher and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Kahn. Mr. and Mrs. Myron T. Ray entertained a small party at cocktails, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Crews, San Francisco, were out-of-town guests in another group.

Arrangements for the dance had been made by a committee consisting of Mr. and Mrs. V. James Whelan, co-chairmen, Mr. and Mrs. Carl McKee, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Schubert, Mr. and Mrs. Potter Park and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Steinberg, Jr. The club's next dance will be given in May.

Movies will provide entertainment at the meeting of Merry Mates of First Baptist church at 8 o'clock Thursday night at the church parlors. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Trent, Neenah, will lead devotions, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ruth will be in charge of refreshments.

Prize winners at the card party sponsored Monday afternoon at Odd Fellows hall by Deborah Rebekah lodge were Mrs. William Block and Mrs. A. B. Weisgerber at bridge and Mrs. E. A. Draeger and Mrs. Frank Murphy at schafskopf.

Ten tables were in play at the dessert-bridge given by Mrs. Joseph Wolf and Mrs. Edwin Nadel yesterday afternoon at the home of the latter, 524 E. Brewster street, for the benefit of Moses Montefiore Ladies Aid society. Prizes at bridge were won by Mrs. R. Payne and Mrs. Samuel Sigman.

St. Joseph's Ladies Aid society will sponsor another of its series of card parties at 2:30 Thursday afternoon at the parish hall. Mrs. John Vogel, Mrs. R. Lehrer and Mrs. Peter Schwartz are on the committee.

Ask Final Reports On Easter Seal Sale

The Easter seal sale sponsored by Outagamie county unit of Wisconsin Association for the Disabled is drawing to a close, and the committee headed by J. B. MacLaren has issued a call for pledges to be paid and seals to be checked in as soon as possible. The county quota has not been reached yet, and the committee is anxious to secure the money for seals which have not been paid for.

The county unit will help with the crippled children's clinic at Morgan school Saturday, and is making application to the state organization for placing a number of Outagamie county children in the crippled children's camp Waubesa at Wisconsin Dells. The per capita cost for a child at the camp is $6 per week. Last year nine children attended from this county.

During the last month the county unit, which conducts the seal sale for the benefit of crippled children and disabled adults, purchased a wheel chair for a 4-year-old girl, an artificial foot for a young man and a hearing device for a woman.

Truck Turns Over; Milwaukee Boy Dies

Kankakee, Ill.—Three Milwaukee, Wis., men ran away from home yesterday and today one of them was dead in a Kankakee morgue, victim of a truck accident.

Andrew Wajcules, 17, Milwaukee, was killed when a big transport truck overturned on state highway 17 near the city limits and crushed him beneath the wreckage.

George Granum, 17, and George Haldoren, 16, both of Milwaukee and companions of Wajcules, told police the story. They had hitchhiked in the truck, driven by Albert Stevens, 22, of Bensenville, Ind., at Muncie, Ind., a few minutes before the accident. They said the truck started swaying and then turned over. Stevens said the wind caused his vehicle to sway. Police held him for the inquest.

'ANOTHER THIN MAN' AT ELITE

Blending laughs with thrills and mystery with mirth in their well-remembered and delightful fashion, the "Thin Man" pair return to the screen of the Elite Theater for 3 days starting today in "Another Thin Man" . . . with William Powell and Myrna Loy as Nick and Nora Charles, the title roles they created in the first picture of the series. In addition, it presents a baby Thin Man whose nonchalant ways would bring laughs from brass monkeys or wooden Indians. The baby is played by eight-months-old William Poulson, chosen from among more than 800 other infants for the part because of his blasé expression.

Wheat Prices Look Good but 1940 Crop Outlook Is Bad

BY FRANKLIN MULLIN

Chicago—The best spring prices for wheat since 1930, except in 1937, today overshadowed as dismal a set of winter acreage and crop condition figures as experts ever have assembled in estimating the size of the new harvest.

In only two other spring seasons since 1900 has the outlook as to the amount of grain which will be ready for reapers early in the summer been so poor. As a result of last fall's drought, the principal trouble zone is in the southwest—western Kansas and parts of Oklahoma and Texas as well as Nebraska—where the nation's big surplus of hard winter wheat is grown. The soft winter wheat area stretching from Missouri and Iowa to Pennsylvania along the Ohio valley is in much better shape.

Despite this pessimism reflected in reports from thousands of farmers, grain dealers and crop experts, which will form the basis of estimates to be released by statisticians this week, the Chicago wheat price indicated producer income as a whole should not suffer. Above-dollar wheat, due to the crop situation as well as war in Europe and Asia, is almost 40 cents higher than at this time last year and double the low prices of 1931 and 1932.

Grain men estimated that at current prices, production of both winter and spring wheat could fall as low as 500,000,000 bushels and still have a potential market value as great as the 755,000,000 bushel 1939 crop had at prices prevailing a year ago. However, much of the 1939 wheat was sold at prices considerably higher than the 68 cents quoted at this time last year.

The current price is based partly on an expected 1940 harvest of around 600,000,000 bushels, which includes the preliminary government Dec. 1 forecast of 400,000,000 bushels of winter wheat and a normal spring crop of 200,000,000.

Would Apply Wagner Act Only in States Without Labor Laws

Washington—A bill which would withdraw enforcement of the Wagner act from states having labor relations laws was introduced in the house yesterday by Representative Hawks (R-Wis.).

Hawks said: "Not only does my proposal make for economy, but it makes for state dignity and is of the most practical importance. It would bring about better enforcement."

A.A.U.W. to Hear Address On Glassware

HOWARD WATTS of the Watts China company, Milwaukee, will speak on "China and Glassware" at a meeting of the junior division of the Appleton branch of the American Association of University Women April 16 at Russell Sage hall. The senior division of the association has been invited to attend the meeting, which is scheduled to begin at 8 o'clock that evening. The lecture will be illustrated with projected slides.

A program in observance of Grand Army day will be given at the meeting of the George D. Eggleston Woman's Relief corps auxiliary to the Grand Army of the Republic, at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon at Elks hall. Mrs. Mary Walker is chairman of the refreshments committee, and Mrs. William Storm is food basket chairman for the day.

In addition to planning their dance for next Sunday night at Conway hotel, members of Junior Hadassah at a meeting last night at the home of Miss Mildred Blinder, 621 N. Lawe street, made arrangements for a Mothers' day tea May 19 at the home of Miss Marjorie Spector, 317 N. Lawe street. Miss Reah Davis will be chairman of the tea, and a speaker will be brought from Milwaukee.

Donations were made to the Youth Aliyah movement. Miss Ruth Meringoff presented a musical program consisting of vocal numbers, "Barcarolle" from Les Huguenots and Brahms "Cradle Song." She played her own accompaniment. The program closed with the group singing "God Bless America."

Our motto club had an election party Tuesday night at Miss Dorset Ruehl's apartment on E. College avenue. Between rounds of courtship, the girls listened to the election returns over the radio. Winners at the same were Mrs. Harry Salzman and Miss Mildred Hooyman. Mrs. Jack Gauslin received the traveling prize. Miss Lillian Rogers will be hostess to the club next week.

When Sigma Alpha Iota alumnae held a pot-luck supper Monday night at the home of Mrs. H. K. Pratt, N. Lawe street, Mrs. A. A. Kribbe was co-hostess. Contract bridge was played and prizes won by Mrs. Mildred Boettcher, Mrs. Carolyn Boettcher and Mrs. Bert Ashman. On May 6 Mrs. Morton C. Hill, E. Pacific street, will be hostess, with Mrs. Harold Ferron as assistant.

Walter Melchior, Appleton attorney, spoke on the workings of the Town and Country movement at the meeting of the Townsend club last night at the courthouse. Wilbur Bogan gave a short talk also.

Miss Constance Flanagan will entertain members of Alpha Chi chapter of St. Mary's Springs academy alumnae association at a 7:30 dinner this evening at Mable Burke's tea room.

G. Meyer, returned to their home Sunday.

The sophomore class entertained at a party Monday evening, at the school gymnasium, for the senior high school. During the evening's entertainment, movies were shown of a boxing bout at the University of Wisconsin. Other entertainment was dartball, ping pong, Chinese checkers and dancing. Refreshments were served.

Phyllis Arndt, sophomore at Downer college, Milwaukee, is spending her spring vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Arndt.

Stolen Lamp Post Is Among Highlights of Goofy Doings

BY GLADWIN HILL

New York—(AP)—Somebody stole a lamp post. . . A cop tagged his wife's car. . . And a man was bitten by his own false teeth—and that's no April fool!

It all happened in last week's international cavalcade of cockeyed occurrences.

The affair of the false teeth occurred this way: A Chicago man slipped off a bench, his store molars flew out of his mouth, ricocheted off his forehead, and—bit him. The cop who had the nerve to tag his wife was Officer Guy Barnes of Rochester, Minn.

The theft of the lamp post occurred in Kansas City, and there just isn't any explanation.

Dept. of delays: A snowbound Alpine, Wyo., family just got their Christmas cards. . . A Kimmund, Ill., man paid for a train ride he took 20 years ago. . . And a Highland Park, Ill., man just got around to marrying a woman he proposed to 50 years ago.

A French soldier was discovered marching to the front pushing his equipment in a baby carriage.

A St. Louis man got so sore talking to a girl on the telephone that he ripped out the receiver. . . A Newport News, Va., man got so mad waiting while somebody monopolized a pay telephone that he smashed the door in. . . After snowplows repeatedly buried his mail box, an Ashland, Maine, farmer mailed it onto a barn gable and put a ladder there—for the mail man to climb.

The New York city education board pronounced a teacher a fire hazard on the ground she weighed 275 pounds and was liable to block doorways. . . While a Washington policeman was reading an advertisement about a lost cat, the cat walked into the police station. . . And when a Muncie, Ind., man had a tree cut down so it wouldn't fall on the house, it fell on the house.

Upper Great Lakes Will Be Open Soon

Drifting Ice Fields, Much Open Water Reported
by U. S. Bureau

Detroit—(AP)—Opening of the navigation season in the upper great lakes by the middle of the month was forecast by the United States weather bureau here.

In his weekly report, Meteorologist Clarence J. Root said indications point to the opening of navigation in the St. Mary's river between April 10 and 15 and that steamers should make passage in the straits of Mackinac "without trouble" by April 15.

Drifting ice fields and "much open water" was reported in Lakes Huron, Michigan, St. Clair and Erie. The Lake St. Clair ship channel was said to be clear "within range of vision" with the Detroit and St. Clair rivers, down which broken ice is moving, open except for a possible ice agore at Algonac.

Ice in Whitefish bay was reported moving out into Lake Superior with thickness in bays, harbors and channels varying from four to 63 inches. Much of the ice, the report said, is honey-combing or turning black.

In the St. Mary's river water was said to be open below locks to near six-mile point and opening fast above the locks. Open water was reported from Mackinac Island to west of Mackinaw City and in the south channel east of fourteen foot shoals. Seventeen inches of blue ice was reported in Escanaba harbor.

The western half of Lake Erie has moving fields and much open water, the report added. Lake Huron ice is breaking up but six-inch ice beyond vision was reported at Port Huron.

The U. S. Forest Service distributed 3,082,111 trees for planting stock in Ohio in 1939.

Residents of colonial New York who refused to clear or repair their chimneys were fined three shillings a chimney.

Bureau Forecasts City Will Receive More Rain Tonight

Precipitation Measures .71 of an Inch Up to 9 O'clock Today

A heavy shower that started in the early morning hours drenched Appleton and vicinity today. Accompanied by lightning in its early stages, the rain distributed .71 of an inch on the countryside up to 9 o'clock this morning, the Wisconsin Michigan Power company reported.

The Milwaukee weather bureau forecast local thunderstorms this afternoon and tonight, with slightly warmer temperatures in the extreme southeast part of Wisconsin this evening. Tomorrow will be cloudy in this area, with rain or snow in the north.

Inhabitants of Appleton went to work in a downpour this morning, but the shower subsided later in the day into a thin drizzle. The rain was rapidly melting the last chunks of ice and snow.

For the 24-hour period ended at 9 o'clock this morning, the highest rain in the city was .39, at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and the lowest was .33, at 4 o'clock this morning, the power company reported.

At noon today the thermometer atop the Post-Crescent building stood at 35 degrees. The wind was from the northeast.

Knoxville, Tenn., with 88, and Yellowstone, with 20, turned in the temperature extremes in the nation yesterday, according to the Associated Press.

$8,500 Is Asked In Damage Action

Suit in Circuit Court Is Result of Traffic Accident in City

A damage suit for $8,500 brought by Mildred B. Witt and her father, Charles Witt, 224 S. Outagamie street, against Arthur Schwabach and the Mutual Automobile Insurance company of the town of Herman with Paul Winterfeldt, Larson, and the Farmer Mutual Automobile Insurance company as proposed interpleaded defendants opened in circuit court of Judge Joseph R. McCarthy this morning.

The suit grew out of a traffic accident on Badger avenue Sept. 16, 1938. Miss Witt was in a car being driven by Winterfeldt when it was in a collision involving the car of Schwabach. Miss Witt asks $7,500 and her father $1,000. Schwabach on a cross complaint seeks $500 from the proposed interpleaded defendants.

Jurors hearing the case are Otto Dorschner, Mrs. Rose Farrand, Peter J. Glouemans, Mrs. Eleanor J. Gmeiner, William G. Grogan, Mrs. Elizabeth Grogan, Alfred John Hinz, Louis C. Huebner, Edward Kelly, Mrs. Clara Leach, Mrs. Francis Nelson, and Mrs. H. B. Sherburne.

Voters of Seymour Reelect Officials

Clerk, Treasurer, Assessor Are Only Incumbents Opposed

Seymour—Mayor Chris Groen-dahl and other officers were re-elected yesterday. The mayor had no opposition.

B. G. Dean, clerk, defeated Forrest A. Huth, 230-144, and Meta Frank, incumbent treasurer, won over F. E. Dopkins, 257-224.

Assessor Albert J. Mill retained his office with a 277-191 victory over John B. Bly.

Alderman Arnold W. Heling of the First ward and Alderman A. Hansen of the Second ward were re-elected.

Seymour voters favored repeal of the teacher tenure law, 263-134.

THE WEATHER

Forecast for Wisconsin: Rain with local thunderstorms this afternoon and tonight; slightly warmer tonight; extreme southeast portion mostly cloudy Thursday, with rain or snow north portion.

General Weather Conditions: The disturbance which was central over the plains states yesterday morning has moved slowly northward and now overlies the state of Iowa. Showers and thunderstorms have occurred during the last 24 hours over the Lake region and upper Mississippi valley, and snow over the northern plains states and northern Rocky mountains. This is followed by clearing weather over the central and southern plains states and over the southern and eastern portions of the country.

It is slightly warmer over the north central states and the New England states, but temperatures are falling over the plains states.

Rain is expected in this section this afternoon and tonight, followed by rain or snow Thursday.

Results of Wisconsin Poll Strike Severe Blow at Foes Of Third Term for Roosevelt

Washington—(7)—A top-heavy popular expression for President Roosevelt in Wisconsin's presidential primary struck a vital blow today at the anti-third term movement personified in the Democratic party by Vice President Garner.

If a public frown from the chief executive still is lacking, a big margin of Roosevelt sentiment in Illinois next Tuesday would constitute an inviting bid for Democrats everywhere to catch a ride on a third-term bandwagon steadily gathering momentum.

For Republicans, Wisconsin voters supplied the first midwestern test of a midwestern candidate vs. a New Yorker. The result was a 2 to 1 vote for Thomas E. Dewey over Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan.

Factors requiring consideration in any analysis of this contest were the political unorthodoxy of the home of LaFollette Progressivism, Vandenberg's refusal to make a personal campaign in his neighbor state, and by contrast Dewey's own vigorous tour for votes.

Nebraska Primary But the New Yorker's victory in state wide balloting over a prominent senator from next-door Michigan led some capital politicians to speculate on whether eventual capture of the Republican presidential nomination would hinge primarily on the outcome of "stop-Dewey" efforts.

Here again a primary next week should help clarify Vandenberg-Dewey alignments in the midwest. The two will compete for Nebraska 14 delegates Tuesday. A Roosevelt Democratic slate is unopposed.

In Wisconsin's Democratic primary, the actual number of delegates picked up by the president or Garner, especially in view of the split in the Roosevelt vote between two delegates slates was considered here less a test of third term sentiment than the over-all popular ballot.

This reasoning sprung from general agreement among Democratic leaders that Mr. Roosevelt can have the nomination if he wants it, that a handful of delegates here and there pledged to another would fade to insignificance in the tumult of a third term stampede at the Chicago convention.

Senator's Comment Senator Barkley (D-Ky.) the Democratic leader, commented that the showing made by Mr. Roosevelt, who has not said yes or no on a third term, was "quite a victory."

But Senator Johnson (D-Colo.) who urged Mr. Roosevelt recently to make known his third-term views, said the primary "has put a damper on the third-term movement."

"The people who voted for Garner were not just casually against Roosevelt," Johnson declared. "They were bitterly against him. When you put the Garner vote with the vote in the Republican primary, it doesn't look so good for Roosevelt in November."

Senator LaFollette, a leader of the Wisconsin Progressive party, told reporters, "I don't think you can look on this primary vote as any indication of what will happen in November."

"You have to take into consideration that several hundred thousand voters who apparently didn't take part in this primary will participate in the general election," said LaFollette, who has been friendly to the New Deal.

Senator Wiley (R-Wis.), however, declared the primary "plainly indicated" that Republicans would carry Wisconsin in November.

Senator Nye (R-N.D.), a Vandenberg supporter, told reporters that he thought Dewey's chances for the Republican nomination had been enhanced by the Wisconsin vote, although he added that since Vandenberg had not waged a vigorous campaign, the result should not be "particularly damaging to Vandenberg's cause."

McCullagh said this means that overdoes given children or young persons may stunt their growth. Given to young men, the hormone has changed feminine youths into deep-voiced males, given them strong muscles and grown beards on smooth faces. If too big doses of the hormone are given fertile men, they become sterile.

The hormone also helps the body to retain its nitrogen, the important ingredient in body tissues. This discovery explains why testosterone hardens muscles and increases the ability of some men to do hard physical work.

by 151-119, and town of Black Creek by 142-134. Little Chute voted 336-276 to retain the statute, while Hortonville voted 174-82 against it.

The first seven precincts to report last night, town of Seymour, Bear Creek village, town of Bovina, town of Maine, town of Kaukauna, Combined Locks, and Shiocton favored repeal of the law.

In the state the trend was established definitely in the direction of advising the legislature to take the law off the statute books. Of Adopts Manager Plan (By the Associated Press) Superior became the 500th city in the United States to adopt the council-manager form of government when it approved a referendum in Tuesday's election by a vote of 7,320 to 5,055.

The new plan goes into effect April 1, 1941. Seven councilmen-at-large will be elected next spring, and they in turn will choose a city manager.

Superior voters in another referendum rejected a proposal providing for immediate negotiations with the Superior Water, Light and Power Co. for purchase of its utility plants at a price of $3,550,000. The vote was 6,498 to 4,690.

the 48 counties from which complete or partial returns were available, 45 returned a majority of "yes" votes.

A 40,000 majority of "No" votes in Milwaukee county's metropolitan area quickly was overcome by votes from out-state.

A sleet storm delayed decisive returns from a number of rural areas where opposition to the tenure law generally was centered.

The referendum is not binding upon the legislature.

Will Extend Water System Combined Locks voters at a referendum yesterday voted 154-29 in favor of extending the water works, which is now connected with the Kimberly system. It was reported today that the project will cost about $18,000 and that work will start soon.

Hubert, by a vote of 155-103, yesterday authorized bonding of the village for $15,000 for a water system. Another referendum to authorize a $40,000 mortgage bond for equipment for the system was passed, 155-104.

Town of Ellington electors decided yesterday to change to a non-partisan town primary for the nomination of officers in preference to the caucus system. The vote was 244 in favor of the primary and 51 against.

The town of Osborn voted, 167-60, to permit licenses for the sale of intoxicating liquors and, by a 163-52 margin, to continue the issuance of licenses to sell fermented malt beverages.

Referenda on bond issues, sale of beer and liquor, and other miscellaneous issues, figured importantly in Wisconsin voting Tuesday, the Associated Press reported.

In Wausau, a referendum on the issuance of $585,000 in bonds for new school buildings and an athletic field lost by 4,611 to 2,683.

In Schofield, a proposal to construct a water and sewer system carried by vote of 441 to 40.

The census taker knocked at the door of 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue in Washington on the first day of enumeration in the decennial count of noses and was received by President Roosevelt who went on record as answering all the questions on the large sheet. vote on sale of beer, again went "dry" by vote of 1,365 to 985. Cornucopia voters decided 110 to 44 to change the village name to North Pole, Wis., the postoffice department willing.

The town of Lincoln, Trempealeau county, rejected the sale of beer, 119 to 107, but favored the sale of intoxicating liquor, 124 to 118.

Whitehall voted 305 to 232 in favor of the sale of intoxicating liquor. Sheboygan approved a proposal to subsidize industrial and commercial development of the city at a cost of not more than $3,000 annually.

Kenosha voters rejected 2 to 1 a proposed $200,000 bond issue to be used in retiring part of the city's debt.

Rice Lake favored a $50,000 bond issue to construct a new armory. Sullivan approved a plan to build a combination village hall and fire station at cost of $8,000.

Whitewater, in a city record vote outside a mayoralty contest, defeated a proposal to halt construction while his father received a factual lesson in a related subject. "What do you know about that?" Hoan exclaimed when the first returns gave Zeidler a lead. "Mus' be from wards I seldom carry anyway."

Later he remarked, "That boy's beating me Hoan is defeated." He added: "I've no desire to go back in alone. The people give me five or six defeat after defeat. The rest are non-partisans. The people expect me to carry it alone. It's been no joy."

Dan Hoan was 29 years old in 1910 when named city attorney by disgruntled citizens who elected a whole Socialist slate to clean out a corrupt city government. Between 1904 and 1906 more than 200 Democratic and Republican officials had been indicted for graft.

In 1916 Hoan was elected mayor and in the years that followed Milwaukee became a model for clean, efficient municipal government. Throughout the depression it remained solvent, put in an amortization fund designed to wipe out indebtedness within the next few years and put city operations on a cash basis.

His election system guards against dishonesty and rigidly-enforced civil service regulations sustain the merit system in all city departments.

Zeidler assumes office April 16. His salary will be $12,300 a year, compared to his scale of $3,480 to $3,720 as an assistant city attorney.

Hoan, never before defeated in major political campaigns covering 30 years, was confident of reelection until early returns began to reveal the voters' first change in their choice for mayor since 1916.

The mayor awaited the result in his modest residence on Milwaukee's west side. At home were his wife, their daughter, Agnes; Dan, Jr., and some young friends. Hoan's campaign manager and personal friends visited the executive during the evening.

Dan, Jr., a student at the University of Wisconsin Extension division in Milwaukee, closeted himself in his room to prepare for an examination in social psychology.

Third Term Issue Formally Before Public-Lawrence

Split in Democratic Party Is Bound to Become Much Wider

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Washington—Wisconsin has the curious distinction today of having been the first state in which the president and vice president of the United States opposed each other in a primary election and in which the members of a major political party voted on the third term issue.

So closely interwoven with organization politics is the modern primary election that a relatively small number of voters go to the polls which gives persons in control of party mechanisms a preponderant advantage.

The fact that Mr. Roosevelt allows his name to be used on ballots in preference primaries is somewhat of a novelty in American politics so far as the record is concerned, but the country has for months been prepared by the third-termers to take it as a matter of course.

It may well be that there is something flattering to the president about the way the politicians in the Democratic party are mobilizing the voters on the third term issue, but sooner or later, the split in the Democratic party is bound to become wider and wider.

For while the idea of a third term for Mr. Roosevelt has not been considered by the New Deal office-holders to be inappropriate, many independent voters have preferred to wait and see what the president himself would do about it before coming to a decision. It is difficult, now that the Wisconsin primary has been held and votes have been cast for Mr. Roosevelt for a third nomination, to realize that the third term issue is at last formally before the country. Whatever doubts may have existed before will be dispelled now and by the Illinois primary a week hence. If the president does not openly disavow the use of his name on the ballot, it will be construed as a definite signal to all other contenders that they might as well step aside if they have been conditioning their respective vacancies on the probability that Mr. Roosevelt would decline to run.

Anti-Third Term
Only Vice President Garner and Postmaster General Farley are openly anti-third term candidates. The total number of votes cast for the measures the protest against the third term, but it also indicates how easily the nomination can be obtained by Mr. Roosevelt by majority vote in the coming national convention.

Does the Democratic party intend to break the tradition which Jefferson, its founder, so strongly espoused?

The most significant statement about a third term yet made by anybody close to the white house came from Mrs. Roosevelt this week when she was quoted as saying the third term tradition should not be broken unless extraordinary circumstances or a national emergency requires it. The political emergencies of trying to carry local tickets to victory on the coat-tails of Mr. Roosevelt are plainly not extraordinary and it may be assumed that the president does not regard them either. There are men close to the president who have been trying to tell him that no other Democrat than he can be elected, but there are others in the party who feel that almost any Democrat can be elected except Mr. Roosevelt because the third term issue would split the Democratic

Russell Would Do All Right If His Stuff Was on Broadway

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER

New York—Everyone seemed to be having a good time laughing at Bert Lehr and Ethel Merman in "Du Barry Was a Lady." As has been the case for weeks, the theater was sold out and it was apparent as one looked around the audience that there was no house rule against minors. No one appeared to be shocked at the hilarious scenes in the old washroom at the Club Petite and in Du Barry's bedroom. Gags were going over that wouldn't have been dared even in the old century burlesque theater in Kansas City 30 years ago. Even those old jokes that the high-school boys used to credit to the traveling salesman brought smashing belly laughs, especially from the ladies and they seemed fresh and crisp although obviously they had been laundered in only half-hearted way.

Ah! Sinful old New York. This city of moral pitfalls against which Governor Dickinson of Michigan warned the young girls of America! Yes, it was being wicked and loving it.

So it was no small shock to emerge from these two hours in which vicarious sin had been so eagerly enjoyed by a capacity audience and to find, in the late editions of the newspapers, the announcement that the youth of New York City had been saved from moral contamination.

Supreme Court Justice John E. McGehean, responding to the alarmed cries of those who feared for the morals of New York youth, had revoked the appointment of Bertrand Russell, English mathematician and philosopher, to teach at the college of the city of New York.

His private ideas about personal conduct were so unconventional as to render him unfit to lecture on mathematics to grown-up college students in New York City.

Bertrand Russell, who carries the unused title of Earl Russell, long ago reached the higher brackets in the scholastic world and recently was appointed professor of philosophy at the College of the City of New York. Specifically, he was to lecture on modern concepts of logic and its relation to science, mathematics and philosophy; problems in the foundations of mathematics; and the relations of pure and applied sciences and the reciprocal influence of metaphysics and scientific theories. He has lectured on these subjects at the University of Chicago and is now at the University of California in Los Angeles. Harvard also has booked him. Dr. Russell's unconventional ideas about morals may not render him unfit to teach in those institutions, but he can't come into New York and undermine the morals of the youth here.

For that, New York provides other facilities and does not intend to permit any competition from a one-man brain trust.

Now They Can Read It
In the Sunday Papers
The case of this 68-year-old professor with the young ideas has stirred up the most intense moral issue in New York since the strip party whereas a united vote may be expected for any regular nominee other than the president.

Liberal Reforms
If Mr. Roosevelt did win, a hostile congress might also be elected and this would tend to endanger liberal reforms for more than would be the case even if a so-called conservative like Mr. Garner were elected. The fact is Mr. Garner was considered a liberal eight and four years ago and except for the attacks by the CIO would be regarded as much a liberal today as when he led a radical wing of his party against the Hoover administration in 1930 and 1932.

The third term campaign is on. It can hardly be ignored by the president. His own office holders and organizations have put him in the race. His own campaign manager of two successful elections and his own running mate in two elections are out against the third term. It is not a happy ending for a political alliance that has established itself now the Democratic party as an exponent of Jeffersonian principles. For if Mr. Roosevelt countenances what is happening in the primaries, he will have done what Washington refused to do and Jefferson declined to do and every president of the United States has been unwilling to do since the beginning of the republic. Small wonder that some who party who feel that almost any Democrat can be elected except Mr. Roosevelt because the third term issue would split the Democratic

Road Maintenance System Is Changed

Town of Brillion Voters Decide to Abolish Superintendent Job

Forest Junction—Voters of the town of Brillion in annual meeting here Tuesday morning altered a system of highway maintenance dating back to the origin of the township by abolishing the position of town highway superintendent.

Heads of the 13 road districts in the township appointed annually by the town board, are affected by the change, which came in consequence of the acquisition of motorized highway equipment over the course of the last few years.

The annual meeting voted $1,500 for grading and culverts, $30 for a township display at the Calumet county fair and fixed the assessor's salary at $350 per year.

Expenditures of $14,260.86 during the last fiscal year, exclusive of tax apportionments, the largest item of $9,058.15 was for highway purposes. Expenditures for poor relief amounted to $1,109.14, an increase of about $200 over the previous year.

Kaukauna Boxers To Meet Oshkosh

Kemp's Team Will Face Strong Squad Friday Evening

Kaukauna—Friday evening Coach Clifford H. Kemp's boxers will swing back into action here, meeting Oshkosh High school mittmen, who come in the valley. With interest in the ring sport high this season the biggest crowd of the schedule is expected. Kemp admits his hopes for another undefeated season rest on defeating the Oshkosh boxers.

In two matches so far Kemp's boys won a topheavy victory over St. Norbert's High, 94 to 24, and took a decisive match from Kimberly, 74 to 34. The Kimberly match saw Karl Giordana lose his first match, but the Kaw favorite was not in the best of condition, having just finished basketball and with few workouts to his credit.

Kaw boxers who have won two out of two bouts this season are Jack Roberts, Gordon Hulst, John Velte, Don Karl, George Reinhold and Paul Feldt. William Mitchell has a victory and draw, Jack Byrnes has won and lost one and Phelan Femal has lost and drawn.

18 Men are Assigned to WPA Project at Kimberly

Kimberly—Village President Lloyd Lang told board members at a meeting Monday evening that 18 men were assigned to WPA work in the village Monday morning, and that 14 more men would be added. The building and repairing the sidewalks will be among the work this spring. Persons desiring sidewalks may contact P. A. Lockschmidt, village clerk, before April 15. Residents will be charged only for the cost of the material.

The question of the type of water service connections, which has been before the board on several occasions, is to be discussed informally by the village officials and the state public service commission at Madison on April 16.

Instructions have been received from the public service commission to hold any advanced or previous notices from them, until after this conference.

The village board is studying the question of changes made by the highway commission on village traffic laws, to have the ordinance conform with the new state laws.

Clarence Hooymann and Theodore Wydeven were reappointed to the playground commission for two years.

The Wisconsin Michigan Power company, Appleton, will move the transformers, now located in the residential district, into a more suitable section this spring. Bills and claims amounting to $4,660.14 were approved by the board.

Clubhouse Filled as Conservation League Has Annual Smelt Fry

Waupaca—The Waupaca Conservation League clubhouse was filled to capacity Monday evening at the annual smelt fry. Guests were present from Fremont, Weyauwega and Scandinavia to help dispose of the 100 pounds of the fish sent from Green Bay by Conservatin Warden George Hadland. Directors were kept busy frying the fish from 4 o'clock in the evening and not a fish was left. Assisting the president of the league, Elmer Torsell, in frying were A. E. Woody, Dr. A. M. Christofferson, William Kneeland, Paul Williams, Edward Pommer, Will Millius and Milton Laux, the directors.

Victor Quick, Waupaca county agricultural agent, spoke on reforestation and the remainder of the evening was spent in informal games of cards.

State Tax Office Quarters Set Up In City Library

County Pension Department Occupies Space In Courthouse

Moving of the state tax division office from Green Bay to quarters on the second floor of the public library building has been completed, J. L. Tibbetts, assessor of incomes, said today. While there still are a few minor adjustments to be made, Tibbetts said the office is in operation.

The Outagamie County Public Welfare department, which was housed in the Odd Fellows building, also moved to quarters on the second floor of the library Monday, and the county AAA office will move to quarters there next Monday.

The present county branch tax office which was discontinued because of the establishment of the division office here has provided enough space on the second floor of the courthouse building for the pension department which was moved yesterday from the Odd Fellows building.

Changing about of the several county offices was made to bring down the rent costs to the county. The state division tax office was established here under a program change of the state tax department in cutting the number of divisions in the state.

Neenah Student Among 40 Who are Competing For Haresfoot Chorus

From throughout the United States, from London, England, and Honolulu, Hawaii, come the 40 male students at University of Wisconsin who seek places in the chorus line of the 1940 Haresfoot club's show, "Serve It Hot," which will be presented Thursday night, April 18, at the high school auditorium.

John Nelson, Neenah, sophomore, is among those selected for the final casting of the chorus, it has been announced.

Final rehearsals for the 16 men who will dance as "chorines" during the theatrical troupe's annual spring tour have entered the last week of competition.

Shiocton Residents Back From Trip West

Shiocton — Leland Peep, Allen Turritt and Russell Laird returned Monday afternoon from a three months trip through the west. The boys covered about 15,000 miles on their tour. They were accompanied home by Mrs. Frank Turritt of Los Angeles, Calif., who will visit relatives in this vicinity and at De Pere before returning home. Mrs. Turritt is a sister-in-law of Fred Turritt and a cousin of Mrs. Edgar Peep of Shiocton.

Members of the Odd Fellows lodge conducted their regular meeting at their hall Monday evening with the following committee in charge: R. D. Fisher, Barb Allender, Orvil Johnson, George Jones, Leonard Larson, and George Kaufman. After the degree work a lunch was served.

Stop for Arterials

My heart stopped. I tried to turn around. Could it be Dirk in the garage?

He'd left me without a word as to where he was going and he hadn't taken the car. Was it still outside of the house?

I shook my head. "Is it... is it..." But before I could gasp out my question Norton had slammed the outside door of the shop and was on his way back to the garage. I wanted to look out of the window for Dirk's car, but there were policemen on the sidewalk, so I went upstairs and knocked on the door of the front apartment.

I must have been pale because Adrienne Wells, when she opened the door, looked at me queerly.

"Is there anything the matter?" she asked.

OPENING AT APPLETON SATURDAY

The motion picture described by its studio as a perfect blend of author, director and cast, "Remember the Night," comes to the Appleton Theater, Saturday, after an intensive critical fanfare which seems to list the new production with such light-hearted romances as "It Happened One Night," "Honeymoon in Bali" and "Midnight." The picture co-stars Barbara Stanwyck and Fred MacMurray. "Remember the Night" is a saucy story of a district attorney who falls in love with a girl he's trying to send to prison. The role of district attorney is played by Fred MacMurray, and the lovely felon portraying the girl who steals his heart is Barbara Stanwyck. Buelah Bondi, Elizabeth Patterson and Sterling Holloway round out the big supporting cast.

"Parole Fixer" based on J. Edgar Hoover's "Persons in Hiding," is the second feature. Included in the cast are William Henry, Anthony Quinn, Virginia Dale and Lyle Talbot.

BLOOD RUNS COLD

I tried to explain. And then I went to the window. Dirk's yellow roadster was still in front of the house and my mind became perfectly clear again. With his car there it seemed unlikely that he'd have gone into the garage.

Adrienne Wells offered me a cigarette and I accepted it. When she lit the match I was shocked at the change in her. She was gray and haggard from lack of sleep — or from worry. Her purple silk pajamas were very unbecoming. I kept wondering for no reason at all why she wore such a trying color.

"Where is Mary Ann?" I asked. And the girl told me she was spending the night with the Fiftys-seventh Street aunt.

"If you're lonely," I suggested, "why don't you come to my apartment?" I'd be glad to have you.

She shook her head. "No, thanks. I'm not lonely, or afraid."

And I believed her. There was obviously something on her mind, but it wasn't fear.

Power Company 1 Of 5 Utilities to Refinance in 1939

Amount Is $4,000,000; Rate Reductions Listed by Commission

Five utilities, among them the Wisconsin Michigan Power company, were authorized to refinance their securities during 1939, the Wisconsin public service commission reported Tuesday.

The amount involved in the Wisconsin Michigan Power company refinancing was $4,000,000. The other firms were St. Croix Falls Improvement company, $1,500,000; Wisconsin Gas and Electric company, $6,148,000; Milwaukee Gas Light company, $3,800,000 in acquiring affiliated concerns; and Northern States Power company, $20,032,700.

Telephone, gas, water and electric rate reductions totaling $1,088,885 were authorized in 1939, the commission announced.

The reductions affected 249,511 customers.

The commission also reported five state utilities improved their generating facilities. The Wisconsin Electric Power company installed machinery for 49,500 additional kilowatts; Madison Gas and Electric Co., 20,000; Northern States Power Co., LaCrosse, and the Manitowish Municipal plant, 10,000; Richmond Center municipal plant, 1,500.

Street railway property and operations of the Milwaukee Electric Railway and Light company were segregated in a firm named the Milwaukee Railway and Transport company, while heat, light and power properties were grouped under the Wisconsin Electric Power company.

Clintonville — Sixteen tables were in play at a card party given by the Parent-Teacher association Monday evening at the high school gymnasium. There were six tables of schafkopf at which prizes were won by Mrs. D. J. Rohrer, George Graff and William Schumacher.

Contract bridge was played at six tables with honors going to Mrs. A. Patterson, Henry Korb and Mrs. Lyman Stevens. There were four tables of auction bridge for which prizes were awarded to Mrs. Carl Schlinger, Melvin Bartz and Mrs. Nick Geiser. Special prizes were won by Mrs. G. A. Seidel and Mrs. W. T. Luedke. Mrs. Floyd Hurley was general chairman and Mrs. Rudolph Rulshede headed the serving committee.

Fast noble grands of the Rebekah lodge met for a covered-dish supper and costume party Monday evening at the Odd Fellow hall. Prizes at the game of "contact" were won by Mrs. Louis Youngs and Mrs. O. H. Kuekuk. Mrs. Ella Winters was awarded the prize for the best costume and Mrs. W. H. Schmidt received a prize for wearing the most comic outfit.

Sam Kratz and daughter Jean, William Kratz and daughter Margaret have returned to their home in this city from a two months' motor trip to Florida and other points in the south. The Kratz brothers left on their vacation trip shortly after selling their lumber business here to the Fullerton Lumber company.

Walter Wulk, a Marion Rotarian, was a guest at the club luncheon. Dr. and Mrs. G. W. Spang returned this week from an extended motor trip through the southern states. They were away about two months.

Mrs. J. E. Long was a weekend guest at the home of her sister, Mrs. A. Z. White, in Chicago.

Mrs. W. T. Luedke entertained the Monday afternoon contract club at her home on Torrey street. Two tables were played with high score being made by Mrs. J. H. Stein.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kluge spent Sunday in Milwaukee.

Dr. F. C. Walch will give a talk on the stars at 8 o'clock Friday evening at the Masonic hall. According to astronomers, unusual formations of stars have appeared recently in the heavens which have not taken place for hundreds of years. Following Walch's talk, there will be a silver tea sponsored by members of the Order of Eastern Star. The program is open to the public.

Doctors Find Elastic Belt Will Prolong Fat Man's Life

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor
Cleveland—Men with bay-window stomachs who are threatened with coronary thrombosis, the heart trouble that kills high-pressure mental workers, can stave off the disease by wearing elastic belts to hold up their "adiposities."

So likewise can certain other persons whose "middle-age spread" around the waist is sagging too much because of long years without proper exercise.

These discoveries, backed by numerous human cases, were described to the American College of Physicians today by Dr. William J. Kerr of San Francisco, past president of the college.

He gave the latest picture of this fatal disease, showing that it now can be recognized in early enough stages to take various successful preventive measures.

Coronary death is really suffocation of the heart. The "pump" fails to receive enough oxygen from the coronary arteries which feed its muscles.

The belt is useful in early stages. Its pressure raises the diaphragm the sheet of muscle which divides chest from abdomen. The diaphragm moves up and down in breathing, helping to empty the lungs and then to refill them with fresh air.

In this movement it acts like a valve to draw more oxygen into the lungs and so into the blood. A sagging mid-section results in a habitual lowering of the level of the diaphragm. Its swinging up and down is less, with the net result that the heart gets less oxygen.

Rotary Club Hears Robert Olen Talk on Economic Outlook

Clintonville — Robert Olen of the Four Wheel Drive Auto company talked to the Rotary club Monday noon on the present economic system in different countries. He pointed out the supremacy of the system in a democracy such as the United States of America as compared to that of the dictatorships and monarchies. The speaker showed what happens in business when you take away the incentive for profit. Capital risks its money in business investments and is entitled to a fair profit, Mr. Olen maintained. The chief problem in the United States, he said, appears to be the distribution of goods rather than its production. Mr. Olen showed how the working week has been gradually reduced from 50 hours in 1929 to the present 40 hours.

Walter Wulk, a Marion Rotarian, was a guest at the club luncheon. Dr. and Mrs. G. W. Spang returned this week from an extended motor trip through the southern

Broad Changes Are in Prospect For Reformatory

Educational Facilities
May be Expanded
Soon, Klode Says

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—Broad changes at the Wisconsin state reformatory at Green Bay are in prospect, Director Frank C. Klode of the state department of public welfare revealed here today, as he announced that Superintendent Earl H. Ecklund of the institution is inspecting potential sites for a reformatory forestry camp in northern Wisconsin.

Klode said that he plans to establish, with the cooperation of the state conservation department, a camp in the vicinity of Phillips, Price county, which will accommodate at least 60 young men who are inmates of the reformatory, and that educational facilities at the reformatory may be expanded soon.

The department chief explained that he will probably propose that the new granite shop now being built on the reformatory grounds be converted into a schoolhouse.

Grows On Stone Work
He said he doubted the vocational value of having the young men learn the trade of stone finishing, and that he feels it isn't a healthful occupation. It was pointed out, however, that legislative action may be necessary to convert the granite shop into a school facility.

The shop is now partly finished, and it will be completed with stone quarried at Amberg by a WPA crew on a project to be sponsored by Marinette county, Klode said. The state board of public welfare recently suspended a prison camp at Amberg, at which prisoners were at work quarrying stone for the reformatory and other state institutions.

Klode said that he envisions a string of forestry camps in the northwoods in the future, through which prisoners and reformatory inmates may be given healthful, outdoors work at small cost to the state, and at a great benefit to the timber resources of the northern counties.

"Some of these boys come in in poor shape. When they're physically sick, they're mentally sick also."

He said that an old CCC camp taken over by the conservation department would be used if the reformatory camp is established.

Painter of Mural Gets Medal, $100

Oil Painting Recently
Was Center of Criticism by Laymen

Milwaukee—(AP)—A mural which caused a storm of criticism by laymen when exhibited at the home show recently, won for Edmund Lewandowski of Milwaukee, the coveted Milwaukee Art Institute medal and $100 award.

The mural is a large oil painting called "Foot of Mitchell Street" and pictures a Milwaukee industrial scene.

Announcement of the award was made last night at 27th annual exhibition of the Wisconsin painters and sculptors. Lewandowski's work was declared the most meritorious of any of the 175 pieces shown.

Alonso Hauser of Milwaukee, won the art institute medal for sculpture and $50 with his figure of Martha Graham, interpretive dancer. The painting "East State Street," by Joseph Friebert of Milwaukee, won the institute's $100 purchase award.

Other awards: Layton School of Art prize for best work by one of its students or alumni, to Frank E. Buffmire of Oconomowoc, for a watercolor, "Return of the Hero."

Henry G. Meyer watercolor purchase award, to Earl Gessert of Sheboygan, "Backyard."

Milwaukee Journal purchase award to Waldemar Berg of La Crosse, "Chippmunk Coulee Storm." Painters and sculptors award, to Marjorie Lueloff of West Bend, "The Blue Veil."

"Every Opportunity" Will Be Offered Appleton Boys By New Baseball Manager

"TELL 'em that we'll give every boy who comes out an opportunity to show everything he has. We'll like very much to have a couple boys from Appleton or the vicinity as members of the squad."

That was the comment of Manager Eddie Danicsek of the Appleton baseball club in the newly organized Wisconsin State league as he went about the task yesterday of picking up the odds and ends connected with his new job. Eddie arrived in Appleton Monday afternoon and immediately put up at the Conway hotel with a welcome sign hanging on the door.

Danicsek came here from Superior where he had been visiting, and had in his pocket the contract of another lad who was recommended as a likely prospect. He is a big, rangy first sacker and is supposed to be a real hitter.

W.I.A.A. Reports on District, Regional and Madison Meets

MARINETTE — The Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic association reported in its April bulletin today that the unclassified state high school basketball tournament held this year had "proved satisfactory."

Secretary P. F. Neverman disclosed that 18 of the 32 district meets, in which the smaller schools competed, paid full expenses and that the $743.82 deficit total for the other 14 was paid out of the WIAA's special fund.

It was the first time that all district schools received the full expense allowance.

The association's profit from the district meets was $2,081.40. From the 16 regional meets it was $3,373.08. The total, $5,454.48, compared with $3,326.79 for 1939. Ashland had the most profitable district tournament, which yielded the WIAA $128.35. Lake Mills had the most profitable regional meet, the association's net being $272.44.

Total attendance at the district and regional tournaments was 126,354, or 14,602 more than the 111,752 recorded last year, Neverman reported.

In the state tournament at Madison, receipts were $659.50 below the 1939 figure of $4,699. Actual profit of the WIAA for the state meet, however, was $321.46, an increase of $189.93 over the 1939 net.

Attendance Declines

Paid attendance for the state meet declined from 9,885 in 1939 to 8,290. Increased profit was due to lowered tournament expense.

Neverman reported that 16,000 Wisconsin high school boys were coveting for basketball under the association's net benefit student benefit plan. He estimated that another 5,000 boys played intra-mural ball.

An addition is being made to the benefit plan for 1940-41, with hospitalization being made optional at a fee of 25 cents. The maximum hospitalization benefit in any one case will be limited to $75.

The March bulletin reported a total of 2,023 injuries. During March another 204 were added, making the total for the year to date 2,226. Injuries chiefly were broken teeth, sprains, and broken bones.

Turning to track, the WIAA reported that a series of meets preliminary to the state interscholastic meet will be held. No sectional meets will be held for Class A schools, but all Class B and C schools desiring to compete in the state meet must qualify in sectional meets.

Sectional meets will be held at Eau Claire, La Crosse, Neenah, Platteville, Mineral Point, Whitefish Bay and Wisconsin Rapids, on May 10 and 11. The state meet will be at Madison May 25.

Brewers Again Tip Saints; Score Is 6-4

Five Runs in the First Account for Milwaukee's Total

Leesburg, Fla. — (P) — The Milwaukee Brewers coasted to a 6 to 4 victory over the St. Paul Saints yesterday after producing five runs on six hits in a wild first inning.

After Vic Frazier staggered through the opening stanza, he and two mound mates held Milwaukee to four hits the rest of the way.

Jimmy Deshong and Frank Makosky divided mound chores for the Brewers, holding the Saints to six hits. St. Paul's biggest inning was the seventh when a pair of singles and a double produced two runs.

Mike Michalske Will Help Coach St. Norbert

DePere — (P) — Appointment of August (Mike) Michalske as line coach of St. Norbert college's football team was announced today by the Rev. T. G. Fox, athletic director.

Michalske was rated as one of the greatest guards in the country, while playing with the Green Bay Packers professional football club. He is a graduate of Penn State.

Outagamie County League to Discuss Plans for Season

Officers will be elected and plans for the 1940 season will be discussed at a meeting of the Outagamie County baseball league at 8 o'clock Monday night at Lee Captain's tavern in Black Creek.

Applications for berths will be considered and the circuit, which had eight teams last season, may be enlarged this season. The league was divided into Northern and Southern divisions last season and Cozy Taverners of Appleton won the pennant in a playoff with Black Creek.

An official ball will be selected and the schedule drawn at the meeting.

GAVERE SIGNED BY BAYS

Green Bay — (P) — Vince Gavre, University of Wisconsin quarterback in 1938, was signed yesterday to play with the Green Bay Packers in the National Football league.

Coach E. L. (Curly) Lambeau said he probably would use Gavre, a 190-pounder, at right halfback.

Interested in Local Talent

Danicsek was especially interested in the crop of local players—Appleton and the Fox river valley—who might be interested. There were two reasons. One, that the crop in this area has never been looked over and two, the fact that a home town boy on a club means a lot at the gate.

President Clarence Baetz furnished him with the names of several prospects. Foremost is John Van Cuyk, Kimberly pitcher, who worked out with the Glans twice last fall. John has the physical qualifications of a hurler and Danicsek is anxious to see him strut his stuff. It's possible, however, that John may not get a chance to work regularly until late in May because he still has his senior year in high school to finish.

Bob Van Cuyk, a brother of John and a catcher, also is reported interested in trying his luck. Like his brother, he is a big lad but unlike him he throws right handed.

Last year he caught for Bonard. Another prospect locally is Norman Knutti, a pitcher. He hasn't done much around here because, it is said, he hasn't been fired up about baseball until just recently. He stands 6 feet 2 inches and packs 225 pounds. In other words he had the size that goes with a major league prospect.

Several Catchers

Two catchers have expressed interest. One is Chuck Rollins, Appleton High school boy, who caught for the Legion team last year. He also is a big fellow and he can play first base when not behind the log.

The other catcher is Gene Kloes who doubles in managing an amateur team here.

Bob Hussey, who cavorted at first base last season for the Legion team, will try for that position. And then there's Otto Kirk who plays second base for the Appleton Athletics and Mark Childs, who shows at first base and is reported one of the best prospects in several years.

Reports also are that "Tuffy" Horn, outfielder with Kimberly last season, will try for a berth. Horn has size and considerable experience but still is a young ball player. He had a trial several years ago at home and interested eyes he may develop fast. He has a good arm, can run and fields well. His batting is fair but when he connects he usually picks up an extra base.

Undoubtedly he is one of the best local prospects so far.

New Bedford, Mass. — "Italian Jack" Dempsey, 165, New Bedford, outpointed Ted Lowry, 163, New Bedford, (10).

Pasadena, Calif. — Bob Kennedy and Frank Metha, both third base rookies, have been showing the way to the hitters in the early White Sox Spring games. Kennedy, a native Chicagoan, collected eight hits in his first 18 times at bat. Metha has glittered in the timeliness of his hitting, accounting for the winning run in three straight games last week.

27 Wrestlers Lay Claim To Heavyweight Title

BY EDDIE BRIEZE

NEW YORK — (P) — Well, pull up a chair and let's get going.

The Jarry Thomas diving probe soon may be a dead pigeon here, just as it is in Chicago.

Arch Ward, sports editor of the Chicago Tribune, who pointed the original charges was called in for questioning by District Attorney Devey's office, but wouldn't talk.

Di Maggio, Dickey and Keller are the boys the small towns holler for as the Yanks barnstorm through the southwest.

Great Scott!

If this isn't the height of something or other! In Oakland one day last week Max Baer (who stayed exactly four rounds with Louis) insisted on demonstrating to Arturo Godoy (who lasted 15) just how Arturo should have fought Joe.

Exactly 27 wrestlers claim the heavyweight title, but the National Wrestling association has decided Ray Steele is their guy. If you'll pardon us for mentioning it, that report that Duke will drop minor sports was a bloomer.

One Minute Interview

Charlie Gehring: I have an idea I can go through another season (his 15th) with the Tigers. If I hadn't thought the job was going to be steady I wouldn't have taken it in the first place.

Coach Bill Chandler and Cecil Isbell Will Talk at Kimberly Sports Banquet

KIMBERLY — Coach William Chandler of Marquette University and Cecil Isbell of the Green Bay Packers will be the principal speakers at the Kimberly athletic banquet to be held at the clubhouse at 8:30 Thursday evening, April 11, in honor of several championships won by Kimberly groups.

Sponsoring the affair will be the Booster club, Lions Club, American Legion and Kimberly Athletic club. No advanced tickets will be sold. All reservations can be made at several stores and the clubhouse.

Guests of honor will be Butch Thein's baseball champs, the Kimberly A. A. basketball team, state home talent champs, the high school cagers, Little Nine Conference champs; and Father Hietpas' Holy Name Midgets. The Rev. L. C. Smith is chairman in charge and will be assisted by Paul Lockschmidt, president of the Booster club, J. R. Gerrits, president of the Lions club, Clarence Fieweger, post commander of the American Legion, W. H. Webb, president of the Athletic club and O. H. Ehke, a representative of the Kimberly mill. The senior girl scouts will serve the dinner.

The Kimberly A. A. basketball team won the championship in the Wisconsin-Michigan league, a newly organized circuit. It included Appleton and Kimberly from this section and a number of northern Wisconsin and upper Michigan teams.

The A's also won a home talent tournament at Kimberly and qualified for the Hartford state tournament. At Hartford, Kimberly defeated the defending champs, Elm Tree Bakers and regained the title it held in 1938.

Ray Hamann's high school cagers won the Eastern division title in the Little Nine Conference. The team scored eight wins in ten starts and it was Hamann's eighth championship in sports since coming to Kimberly.

Last summer Butch Thein's baseball team won the Fox river valley league pennant. The Papermakers won the first round and then played a three game series with Menasha, second round winners, and won the title.

Father Hietpas' vest pocket cagball team won a fast pace in the Catholic boys grade school league and showed in the tournament at Menasha. Playing against taller opponents practically the whole season, they won seven league games.

Eleven teams of Oney Johnston post bowlers have been entered in the state American Legion bowling tournament at Green Bay, it has been announced by John Bauer, Appleton representative on the state legion bowling association board. At least one more team is being sought and any five interested should contact Bauer.

The Private and Oney Johnston post No. 1 bowlers will roll doubles and singles Saturday, Bauer announced. All team events will be rolled April 10. At that time the remaining doubles and singles also will be rolled.

The teams and members follow: Privates—D. McGee, H. Gleisner, R. Dunger, J. W. Bauer, W. Lawlor, captain.

Oney Johnston, Post No. 1—J. Balliet, captain, W. Fries, F. Fries, F. Yelg, A. Weisberger.

Hook and Tony's—Dr. W. Frawley, Dr. R. R. Lally, A. Grizmacher, H. Penkatz, captain, W. Grusens.

Merchants Winding Up 4th Season

Merchants league keglers are winding up their fourth season at Arcade alleys and will have to do some tall shooting within the next two weeks if they expect to surpass the high marks hung up this year. Milt Leinin, right, is holding down the individual series fort with a big 712, the highest total scored in Appleton this season. His team, Leath Furniture, banged the top team total of 3,205. Checker Lunch, the league leaders, steamed a 1,133 for high team game thus far. Roy Hauert topped high individual game of 267.

Tony Natrop is president of the 16-team loop and Huhn is secretary. Schuessler, Leinin and William Steenis are committeemen. The circuit, which rolls on Friday nights, is making tentative plans for a banquet at Eagles hall April 16. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Automobile Racers in First Jaunts on Speedway Track

INDIANAPOLIS — (P) — Practice for the annual 500-mile automobile race on the Indianapolis motor speedway is off to its earliest start since post-war days.

Russell Snowberger of Detroit drove his four-cylinder, front-drive car 100 miles around the two-and-a-half-mile brick-and-asphalt track yesterday, doing one lap at 115 miles an hour.

T. E. (Pop) Myers, vice president and general manager of the speedway corporation, said it was the earliest practice spin in 20 years. But he predicted warm weather would bring out more drivers soon.

"There are already many cars in the garages along gasoline alley," Myers said, "and it wouldn't surprise me to see things humming here in another week."

Snowberger, who hit an estimated 152 miles an hour on the straightaways, forecast "speed to burn" for the twenty-eighth running of the yearly motor classic next Memorial day.

"The track feels lightning fast, although it's pretty dry," he said. "I expect that it will take from 121 to 133 miles an hour to qualify."

The slowest of the 33 cars in last year's race qualified with a 10-mile run at 116.527 miles an hour. The late Floyd Roberts made the best speed in a race when he won the 1938 event at 117.200 miles an hour.

Snowberger, a race driver 18 years, has finished the 500-mile race in the money five times—placing fifth in 1931 and 1932 and eighth in 1930, 1933 and 1934. He started racing here in 1927.

He qualified at 124.911 miles an hour last year but motor trouble forced him out of the 500-mile grind after 125 miles.

Snowberger has brought back the same car with a new motor, of 280-cubic-inch, pistol displacement. With him is his veteran mechanic, Eddie Metzler.

Appleton Athletics Will Organize Tonight

The Appleton Athletics, recently entered in the Fox River Valley league, will hold a meeting at 7:30 Wednesday evening at the Telulah club, Weimar street. Clarence O. Baetz, president of the Appleton Class A team, and George Brautigan, chairman of the recreation committee, will attend. The group will discuss plans for a card party to raise funds for the club. The Athletics will continue to play their games at Interlake park.

Rangers Tip Toronto In Overtime Battle

New York — (P) — The Toronto Maple Leafs' plans for the Stanley cup hockey playoffs appear to be to hold New York's Rangers down and wear them down, in the first two games in New York. Then they'll cut loose with their own offense when they get back home Saturday to finish the series.

It looks like a good plan, too, on the basis of their showing last night in the first game of the best-of-seven series for hockey's most valued trophy. The Rangers won, 2 to 1, but they had to play 151 minutes of overtime to get the odd goal that just about measured the difference between the two teams. They meet again tonight and another victory seems imperative for the Rangers if they hope to beat the Leafs as decisively as they did the Boston Bruins in the first round of the National Hockey league playoffs.

Hoppe Clinches Billiard Title

Scores Sixteenth Consecutive Win; Cochran Is the Victim

Chicago — (P) — The "boy wonder" of billiards 34 years ago is no longer a boy but he's still a wonder.

His name is Willie Hoppe and he has been making the big leagues of three-cushion billiards look like a bunch of platers running against Seabiscuit.

Hoppe, now 52 years old and gray-haired, clinched the world's three-cushion title last night, defeating defending champion Welker Cochran, 50 to 43, in 46 innings, for his sixteenth consecutive victory in the current tournament without a defeat.

The tournament has four more days to run and Hoppe has four more games to play but none of the other 10 players in the field—including five ex-world title-holders—has a chance to catch him.

Jake Schaefer of Cleveland, current king of the balkline, is entrenched in second place. Art Thurnblad of Kenosha, Wis., is in eighth place.

The Jefferson Bumblebeuster softball team, composed of sixth graders, defeated the St. Mary's Torpedoes, 12 to 9 at Jefferson school grounds Monday. Five runs in the seventh frame enabled the Jefferson team to win. The winners got two homers during the uprising.

Stuart Locklin hit one homer. Gordon Sherman got two, Raymond Mundt and Carl Nabb one each for the winners. Balliet hit the only homer for the losers.

McKozie and Nemachack worked for the losers and Kimball and Sherman for the winners.

Dartball Tournament Carded at Clintonville

The annual northern district dartball tournament will be held at Clintonville armory, April 21. Entry blanks have been mailed to known teams in this section but interested teams may file by writing F. O. Jahn, Parkway hotel, Clintonville, by April 15. The entry fee is $2 and a team may list 14 players. The field will be limited to 48 teams. There will be cash prizes for first and second place teams in the championship and consolation brackets.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

TAX CENSUS

Eight hundred and seventy-four years ago, the Normans invaded England and won power there. The Norman leader, William the Conqueror, made himself king of England.

Chest or "strong box" which was made to hold the two volumes of the Domesday Book.

After the fighting was over, William soon sent out men to gather taxes. They brought in sums of money, but not enough to please the ruler. So he ordered a great tax survey of the country.

Officers went to places far and wide. They asked questions in cities and in villages.

In a village, a king's officer would call together from four to six villagers, including a priest, and would ask them such questions as these:

"How much land is there in this domain? How many plows? How many freemen? How many slaves? How many cotters? How many villeins? How much land is covered by forest or woodland? How much is in meadow? How much is under the plow? How many mills are there, and how many fishponds?"

That was only part of the survey. The men who spoke for the village were also asked to tell the value of the lands in the time of King Edward the Confessor, who had ruled 20 years before. They had to tell about changes in value of the land, taxes paid in the past, and the number of livestock.

The question about "villeins" was not about criminals. A villein, in those days, was a peasant without much land but with a certain amount of freedom. They usually lived in villages a short distance from the land on which they worked.

After their travels through England, the king's officers returned to London, and handed in their lists of facts. The lists were put into a handwritten book of two volumes. One volume was much larger than the other.

People in England said, "The king's men have gone about and learned everything about our farms. They could not have found out more if they were making ready for the Day of Doom, the Last Judgment!" Among the people, the common name for the facts brought together was "Domesday Book" or "Domesday Book."

Springmire Gets Mayor's Office in New London Race

Council President Given 38-Vote Margin in 3-Way Contest

New London — Alderman Lynn Springmire was promoted, from council president to mayor of New London, Ormond W. Capener was chosen as city attorney, E. C. Oestreich was retained as city assessor and three new aldermen were elected in the municipal vote yesterday. The new aldermen are D. B. Egan, First ward; Gust O. Krueger, Second ward; and Edward Krueger, Third ward.

The mayoralty race was close, Springmire edging out M. H. McDonnell by 38 votes with a total draw of 728. McDonnell had 690 and Francis A. Werner, the third candidate, received 615.

After several failures to beat Giles H. Putnam at the polls in recent years, Capener yesterday defeated the present city attorney for reelection by a majority of 278 with a count of 1,114 to 836.

Irvin Huntley gave D. B. Egan a close race for alderman in the First ward. Egan winning by a 71-vote margin, 180 to 107. Alvin A. Tambauer polled 61.

In the Third ward, Edward Krueger received 203 votes, John Yost 121 and Walter Fredricks 92. Gust Krueger ousted Matt Clark, present Second ward alderman, by a vote of 109 to 63 with Jay Joubert getting 51 votes.

Narrow Margin
William Behm retained his post in the Fifth ward by an 11-vote margin over Louis Kurzevski. Alvin Behm received 75 votes, Otto Stein survived the opposition of Henry Fisher in the Fourth ward, 233 to 245.

Novelty Band to Give Program for Students

New London—A novelty band formed by seven Washington High school boys will entertain the student body with comedy music at the regular assembly in the auditorium Thursday afternoon. Labeling themselves the New London Philharmonics, they have worked out several numbers.

Following is the personnel and instruments: George Webber, harmonica; Gene Wyman, tonette; Allen Ziebur, 1-string guitar; Dick Wyman, blatweasel; Floyd Watkins, euphonium; Wilton Quant, kettles; Howard Mannchen, piano.

Milwaukee Man Sent To Jail for Vagrancy

New London — Henry Kreckow, 32, Milwaukee, pleaded guilty of vagrancy when arraigned in police court of Justice Fred J. Rogers Tuesday and was committed to the Waupaca county jail for 15 days when he failed to pay a fine of $10 and costs. He was arrested early Tuesday morning.

Commissioners C. E. Hammerberg and Louis Schmalenberg were unopposed for reelection but each drew heavy counts, as did Irvin Ziebell for Fourth ward constable.

Follow Trend
In the selection of national party convention delegates, New London voters generally favored Dewey delegates over Vandenberg about 3 to 2 on the Republican ticket and the Roosevelt-Fairley or Roosevelt state endorsed delegates were favored 3 to 1 over Garner delegates.

The Republican vote was slightly heavier than the Democratic.

The balloting was slightly stronger than last year with a total of at least 2,057 ballots cast. Returns were slowed by the referendum and delegate counts and the First ward election board failed to make any official return whatever last night. The Fourth ward was the last to check in at the city clerk's office shortly before 1 o'clock.

In the four wards reported the teacher tenure law was upheld by a slight margin in the Second, Third and Fifth precincts. The Fourth ward voting strongly for repeal, 239 to 172.

Court Refuses to Grant Restraining Order Under Code

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau
 Oshkosh—Circuit Judge Henry P. Hughes, Oshkosh, yesterday afternoon refused to issue a temporary restraining order, which would compel the Menasha Cleaners and Dyers, operated by Frank Shemanski, the Richmond Cleaning and Dyeing Company, an Oshkosh firm with branch offices in Neenah, Menasha and Appleton, and the Groh Cleaners and Dyeing Company to comply with the prices set by the code for that industry.

Edward M. Wylie, trade practice examiner for the state, declared in court yesterday that these firms were violating the code passed by the state legislature last year in that they were charging prices below the minimum price under the code and that they had not taken out a license to operate a cleaning and dyeing establishment as required by the code.

Attorneys for the three companies challenged the validity of the law establishing codes and asked that the case be put on the circuit court calendar for this month so that the constitutionality of the law might be tested. Judge Hughes refused to grant a restraining order pending the litigation of this suit at circuit court later this month when the issue will be the validity of the code.

Examiner Wylie contended that the price-cutting of these three firms was damaging the business of all cleaning and dyeing establishments that had complied with the code, and asked that these firms put up in court a deposit of stipulated damages that would result if these violations were continued. This request was denied by the court as the sum of damages which might result through future violations.

Other Actions
 Mr. Wylie initiated similar proceedings in Milwaukee last Friday afternoon and declared that other proceedings against several Appleton firms would be started this week.

In commenting on Judge Hughes' denial of a restraining order the trade practice examiner declared that any attempt to enforce the code on other firms in Neenah, Menasha, and Oshkosh would be made impossible until the case against these companies was settled in court.

In his decision Judge Hughes ordered that the offending companies deposit with the court an amount equivalent to their license fee, which these companies have not paid as yet, but declared that they may still charge the prices charged before until the code's constitutionality is decided. Frank Shemanski was given till Friday to pay the license fee amount.

In the aldermanic contests, Schultz defeated Daniel E. Driscoll by 490 votes in the First ward, 387 from the First precinct, and 313 from the Second precinct, while Driscoll got 215 votes, 94 from the first precinct and 121 from the second precinct.

Andrew Andersen out-poll Fred Johnson in the Second ward, receiving 301 votes. The former collected 301 votes and the latter 76. To get his 2-vote margin victory, Buschey counted 201 votes to Stille's 199 in the Third ward.

Heigl outdistanced two opponents in the Fourth ward contest. He defeated Walter H. Haufe by 69 votes and S. K. Seebler by 90. Heigl got 186, Haufe 117 and Seebler 96. In the Fifth ward contest, James Andersen defeated Paul Fahrnenkang by 119 votes, the former counting 384 and the latter 265.

Three Cottagers Defeat Incumbents by Over 50 Votes Tuesday

Neenah—A coalition ticket between cottagers and farmers in the town of Neenah was victorious by more than 50 votes in the town election Tuesday.

Three cottagers were elected to offices, defeating two incumbents and another farmer, a former officeholder, while the other incumbents were reelected.

A. T. Hudson, a cottager, defeated John Kuettel, incumbent, by 50 votes for one of the supervisor positions. Hudson polled 152 votes to Kuettel's 102. Reginald Waldo, another cottager, eliminated Edward Hunt, incumbent, by 52 votes for justice of the peace, the former getting 148 votes against Hunt's 100.

Lyall Stille, the other non-farmer on the coalition ticket, won over Carl Schneider, a former incumbent, by votes in the constable race. Stille received 157 votes and Schneider 85.

The other incumbents had no opposition. Earl Hughes, chairman, received 222 votes; Guy Evans, supervisor, 247; W. F. Metz, clerk, 253; P. J. Weinman, treasurer, 250, and Henry Malchow, assessor, 241.

The coalition ticket was promoted by the cottagers in an effort to eliminate opposition between the non-farmers and farmers in the management of township affairs. The cottagers, agreeing to give control of the township to the farmers, sought representation and a minor, non-administrative offices. All the candidates were nominated at the town caucus.

5 Neenah Persons to Attend WATA Parley

Neenah—Five representatives from the Neenah Health council will attend the annual convention of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association at Milwaukee Thursday and Friday.

They are Miss Mildred Erdmann, Dr. George H. Williamson, Miss L. Evelyn Scholl, Mrs. C. B. Clark, and Mrs. Effie Bishop. Miss Erdmann will be at the convention during the two days, while the others will attend the annual dinner at Hotel Astor Thursday. Dr. T. L. Harrington, medical director of the River Pine sanatorium, Stevens Point, will be the toastmaster.

Miss Erdmann reported that the representatives will bring back to Neenah material for the early diagnosis campaign which will be used in Neenah in connection with tuberculosis clinics.

Leaders of Girl Reserves to Meet

5-Day State-Wide Conference Will Be Held June 15-22

Neenah—Registration blanks for a state-wide Girl Reserve conference at White Gables near Green Bay the week of June 15-22 will be sent to state clubs and departments this week as a result of a conference of 22 representative groups in Wisconsin last Saturday at the Twin City Y. W. C. A.

Between 15 and 26 clubs and departments will send Girl Reserve leaders and advisers to the summer conference which will be of five days duration. The program will be drafted by a special committee to be appointed later. The list of topics which may be discussed at the conference include economics, personal relations, interracial understanding, public affairs, religion, the Y. W. C. A., music, membership problems, duties of club officers. The program will be divided into three parts, assemblies and discussions in the morning, recreation in the afternoon and evening programs.

Representatives from Green Bay, Wausau, Racine and Neenah met Saturday at the conference. The Green Bay, Wausau and Neenah Girl Reserve departments sponsored the preliminary plans for the conference. Miss Violet Hawkins represented Green Bay, Miss Lois Orfield, Wausau; Miss Marian Richardson, Racine; and Miss Benita Shinn, Neenah as department heads.

Girl Reserve leaders from each of the cities were chosen also.

Registration blanks will be sent to clubs in Kenosha, Park Falls, Rhinelander, Sparta, Virgo, Edgerton, Cambria, Neillsville, Madison, Racine, Janesville, Beloit, La Crosse, Milwaukee and Waukesha.

FINED FOR SPEEDING
 Menasha—William Gilbert, 18, N. Park avenue, Neenah, was fined $5 and costs when he pleaded guilty of speeding, on arraignment before Justice of the Peace Arthur J. Ales Tuesday night. Gilbert was arrested by Menasha police Monday night and charged with exceeding the speed limit on Tayco street.

Record of Traffic Accidents Reveals March Improvement

(Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau)
 Oshkosh—Although the auto accident record for March declined from 44 accidents during March last year to 39 for this year, the number of accidents during the first three months of the year increased from 144 to 153, according to a report to Floyd L. Wright, statistician for the Winnebago County Safety Council.

The number of injured persons last month was 15 while the corresponding month last year had 10 injured. Neither month had any fatalities. Since the first of the year two persons have been killed in auto accidents and 67 have been injured, compared with no fatalities and 45 injured for the corresponding three months in 1939.

Women's Teams to Compete in State Bowling Tourney

Neenah and Menasha Entries Slated to Perform Over Weekend

Menasha—Ten Menasha women's bowling teams will go to La Crosse this weekend to compete in the state women's bowling tournament. Neenah and Menasha will entertain the women's state event next year. The state women's tournament was held in Menasha in 1933 with 112 teams competing. More than 400 teams entered the event this year.

In the years in which Menasha leagues have entered the competition, only once has any combination taken top honors. D. Miller and M. Osterberg won the Class B doubles title in 1935 with 1,035 pins.

Teams in the tournament are divided into four classes. Only one Menasha team is entered in Class A, teams having averages of 756 and over. That team is the Hendy Recreation team, captained by K. Kelly.

Four teams are entered in Class B, with averages between 700 and 755. Those teams are the Valley Press team, captained by E. Beck, Patzels, led by C. Craig, Adler, Brauer, captained by M. Osterberg, and Gold Labels, led by L. Keapock.

In Class C Menasha will enter four teams also. They are Marathon Paper led by A. Suess, Wheeler Transportation captained by L. Wheeler, Bungalow Bar captained by L. Peterson and Gilbert Papers captained by M. Stolla. The averages in class C are between 600 and 699.

One team, Menasha Products, captained by H. Loescher, is entered in class D.

Eighteen duos are entered in the doubles and most of those leagues also will compete in the singles. Pairings for the doubles include L. Wagner and D. Rogers, E. Damon and R. Rohloff, E. Beck and M. Stolla, M. Bayer and L. Schimmel, G. Apitz and A. Suess, M. Bente and C. Craig, K. Kelly and J. Mrochinski.

Council to Canvass Ballots at Meeting

Neenah—Votes in Tuesday's municipal election will be canvassed at the meeting of the Neenah council at 7:30 tonight at the city hall.

Recommendations from the public improvements committee on installation of curbs and gutters and assessments for sewers and water mains will be submitted at the meeting.

Roosevelt, Dewey Given Support But Vote for Delegates Is Mixed

Menasha—Twin City voters endorsed President Franklin D. Roosevelt for a third term although the numerous candidates for delegate to convention apparently confused large numbers of voters.

Neenah usually is a Republican city but apparently the Republicans entered the Democratic controversy for Roosevelt received 924 votes and Garner received 263. The Republican total of names written in was 474.

Dewey apparently is an outstanding favorite for he received 322 votes to 152 for Vandenberg in Neenah. In Menasha the four Dewey delegates-at-large topped the list with Fred R. Zimmerman the individual high with 574 votes. George Greeley and Nicholas E. Hausmann, Dewey delegates from the Sixth district, also ran far ahead of the adjoining towns.

Voters attempted novel things on the party ballots. Several wrote in the name of Garner for president on the vice president were varied with Garner, Farley, Hull, and Wheeler receiving Democratic votes.

Strange Division
 In Menasha President Roosevelt received 1,485 votes to 389 for John Nance Garner. However, those votes were divided strangely. The delegate candidate who received the second high total vote in Menasha was John A. Callahan, an endorsed Garner for President delegate.

Two Roosevelt-Farley delegates and one Roosevelt state conference candidate were endorsed. Gustave J. Keller led his slate while Joseph H. Wallis led the Broughton slate. For district delegates Menasha voters divided again, giving George T. Sinn, Menasha, one of the Keller slate conference endorsed candidates, 530 votes. Arthur H. Gruenewald, a Roosevelt-Farley delegate, was second high.

It was also the party tickets which caused the election clerks the most difficulty in tabulating the vote. Although only 474 Neenah similar trends for camporee.

Adult circulation amount to 7,227, while children circulation totaled 5,875. The circulation at the branch library amounted to 715 and rural was 478.

Miss Hart reported that 929 books were repaired last month. There were 1,123 readers who used library facilities, 90 reference questions were answered and there were 89 new borrowers.

D. Clough Wins Scout Camera Hike Contest

Menasha—Don Clough received first place in the camera hike held by boy scout, troop No. 9, sponsored by the Menasha Wooden Ware March 16. The pictures taken on the hike were judged by Larry Spalding at the troop meeting Monday night. Second place went to D. Dubinsky.

Golden Eagle patrol, headed by Tom Loescher, received first place in the soap carving contest. A paper collection copied was announced by Scoutmaster James Flynn. Sin, Menasha, one of the Keller slate conference endorsed candidates, 530 votes. Arthur H. Gruenewald, a Roosevelt-Farley delegate, was second high.

It was also the party tickets which caused the election clerks the most difficulty in tabulating the vote. Although only 474 Neenah similar trends for camporee.

Werth Defeats Derby for Town Chairman Post

Incumbent Loses by 24 Ballots in Record Town Of Menasha Vote

Menasha—Arnold Werth defeated incumbent J. B. Derby for town chairman by 22 ballots in a record vote for the town of Menasha Tuesday. Werth, who served as a member of the town board of supervisors last year, received 196 votes to 174 for Derby. Derby had served as chairman for the last six years.

Town voters cast 385 ballots, the largest vote in the history of the town.

Howard Ehlers and Harvey Grundman were named to the board of supervisors, defeating William Grundy and Harry Lopas. Ehlers led the group with 200 votes followed by Grundman with 187. Grundy received 145 votes and Lopas 122.

George J. Wilz, town clerk, was reelected to his position by a decisive margin over John F. Schmidt. Wilz received 231 votes to 147 for his opponent.

Close Contest
 Walter Klink was elected assessor in the closest race on the ballot. He received 191 votes to 164 for Joe Kisch. Simon J. Wilz was named constable over R. C. Gillingham 225 to 138.

Two officers were elected without opposition. Amos D. Page, incumbent treasurer, received a complimentary vote of 360. E. C. Radick was elected justice of the peace without opposition, receiving 288 votes.

Pickard Attending Banking Conference

Neenah—S. N. Pickard, president of the National Manufacturers bank, is attending the annual conference on banking at Madison today. The conference, held Tuesday and today, is being sponsored by the Wisconsin Bankers' association, the Wisconsin banking commission and the school of commerce, Wisconsin university, in the Memorial union.

The Twin Cities office of the Appleton Post-Crescent for its editorial, circulation and display advertising departments is located at 510 N. Commercial street, and the telephone number is 4100. News items, copy or orders for display advertising and orders for subscriptions may be left at the office or telephoned. Orders for classified advertising should be placed by telephoning 543 in Appleton, and the cost of the telephone call will be rebated. The Twin Cities office closes at 7 o'clock in the evening.

Town of Neenah to Oppose Beltline

Votes Against Construction of Superhighway At Annual Meeting

Neenah—The town of Neenah at its annual meeting Tuesday afternoon at the National Manufacturers bank building voted to oppose construction of Superhighway 41 south from the city limits of Neenah. The meeting was held in conjunction with the town election.

Voters in the town instructed their representatives on the county board to oppose all legislation or appropriations for the construction of the beltline.

Despite the fact that no town tax was levied last fall, the town's financial statement showed a surplus of $8,214.54, it was reported at the meeting. The surplus is about $1,900 under that of last year's. Resources for the year ending March 30 totaled more than $34,741, while expenditures for the same period amounted to $28,201.

The town voters also decided to keep the relief program on the same basis as last year. The town has been maintaining its relief slogan of "No work, no eat." All able bodied men in the town who apply for relief are given work of some kind, but if they decline to work, they receive no aid.

The town board also was given control of the administration of the town fire truck and apparatus, the voters decided.

Neenah — Rehearsal for the investiture ceremony at the April 9 meeting of Girl Scout troop 1 will be the principal activity at a meeting Tuesday afternoon in the parish house of St. Thomas Episcopal church. The girls to be invested are Miss Carol Lucille Swanson, Miss Betty Threlkeld and Miss Jean Eiss. An invitation has been extended to Girl Scout troop 3, sponsored by the Washington School Parent Teacher association, to attend the ceremony next week. Attendance stars will be distributed at the investiture meeting also.

Miss Lucille Ruch, troop captain, has called a meeting of patrol leaders for Monday evening, April 8 at the parish house. Plans for the April 10 hike will be completed. The troop committee will meet this evening to discuss possibilities for sending the troop leaders Miss Ruch and Miss Helen Graef to a Girl Scout leaders training institute.

Given Probation on Bogus Check Charge

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau Oshkosh — R. R. McCabe, 31, Oshkosh, a salesman at an Appleton garage until recently, Tuesday was sentenced by Judge S. J. Luchinsger to five months in the Winnebago county jail for issuing a worthless check but sentence was suspended and McCabe was placed on probation for one year. He pleaded guilty of the charge in municipal court a week ago. He was accused of drawing a check of $395 on the Oshkosh National bank March 20.

Over 70 Per Cent Of Menasha Voters Cast Their Ballots

All Wards Share in Heavy Spring Election Voting Yesterday

Menasha — Over 70 per cent of the registered Menasha voters cast their ballots in the spring election Tuesday. Total votes cast were 3,394 out of a possible 4,817. Interest in the race for mayor as well as the assessor question contributed to the heavy vote.

All wards shared in the heavy voting. In the first ward 494 out of a possible 683 ballots were cast. In the second ward there were 733 votes out of 1,091 registered. The third ward had 620 votes cast and 944 persons registered. The fourth ward, which has the largest registration, also had the largest number of votes. In the ward 829 ballots out of 1,164 were cast. The fifth ward cast 718 votes out of a possible 935.

Election officials had their troubles Tuesday night. Not only was the vote unusually heavy but the party tickets added to the confusion. The judicial election for municipal judge for the village of Winneconne and Winnebago county also added to the task.

Write In Names Most voters either discarded that particular ballot or else turned it in to the ballot box blank. However, some voters wrote in names. Twenty-five voters did that in the second ward and there just about that many names on the list.

Silas Spengler received nine votes in the fourth ward and four in the fifth for the post. Judge S. J. Luchinsger received 13 in the third and Judge Henry P. Hughes led in first, and second with a total of seven.

Numerous other names were listed, including Arnold J. Cane, Ray J. Fink, L. O. Cooke, Judge D. E. McDonald, M. F. Crowley, Allan Adams, Frank Dexter, Carl Drexler, and numerous others.

Former Neenah Woman Succumbs in Canada

Neenah — Mrs. Alice Bryan, 85, former Neenah resident, died Monday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Sidney Coats, Cadboro Bay, Vancouver Island, Canada. Mrs. Bryan left Neenah about three years ago to make her home with her daughter. She was a member of the J. P. Shepard Woman's Relief corps during the years she was a resident here.

Survivors are two sons, Earl Bryan, Chicago, Ill.; Marshall Bryan, Milwaukee, and two daughters, Mrs. Coats, Cadboro Bay, and Mrs. Wallace Jack, Vancouver Island. Funeral services will be conducted at the Oak Hill cemetery chapel Saturday afternoon. Burial will be in the cemetery.

Twin City Births

A daughter was born last night to Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Viesser, 651 DePere street, Menasha, at the Theda Clark hospital.

St. Mary Sodality to Hold 'Rushing' Skating Parties

Menasha — A "rushing" party in conjunction with a 6:30 covered dish supper April 8 for which Miss Louise Liebhauser and Miss Eleanor Ciske will be chairman and a skating party April 16 with Miss Verna Hackstock and Miss Magdalene Ruppel as chairman were planned by members of the Young Ladies sodality of St. Mary's parish in the school hall Tuesday evening. Sodality Sunday, which is observed May 19, was elected by the group as the Sunday at which members will receive communion in a body, after which a breakfast for members and for senior girls of the class of 1940 who are members of the parish, will be served in the school hall. Miss Anne Maethe, president of the sodality, named Miss Evangeline Griesbach, Miss Dorothy Sues and Miss Arlene Hengsteler as members of the breakfast committee for that day's program. Tentative plans for a Mothers' day tea were discussed but no action was taken. A member of the St. Mary's High school sodality was present at the meeting to extend an invitation to members of the Young Ladies sodality to a tea Sunday afternoon April 14 at the school hall.

The women of the parish of St. John's Catholic church will entertain at a card party at 7:30 Thursday evening in the school hall.

Winodawa Bridge club will meet at 2:30 Thursday afternoon in the Masonic hall.

Plans for a card party Tuesday, April 16, with Mrs. Mae Klutz as chairman, were discussed at the business meeting of the Menasha review. Women's Benefit association, Tuesday evening in Eagles hall. Miss Ida Hohenel entertained during the program with a solo "Beautiful Blue Danube" and Mrs. E. Alger read "Ten Commandments." Mrs. Grace Mueller read a poem "It Pays to Advertise." During the social hour, cards were played with Mrs.

The Missionary Circle of Trinity Lutheran church will meet at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the school hall. Miss Alverna Franz, Mrs. R. Gothe and Mrs. H. Gothe will be hostesses.

The Menasha High school Band Mothers have postponed the monthly meeting scheduled for Thursday to Wednesday, April 10, in the activity room of the Menasha High school.

Falcon auxiliary's postponed meeting will meet at 7:30 this evening in Falcon hall.

Mrs. Fritzen Named Head of Neenah Woman's Tuesday Club

Neenah — Mrs. J. C. Fritzen was named president of the Woman's Tuesday club of Neenah at the business meeting Tuesday afternoon preceding a lecture on current events by the Dr. Louis C. Baker, Lawrence college professor, Appleton, in the club room of the Neenah Public library.

Mrs. E. P. Arpin will be the first vice president as a result of the vote, Mrs. William Daniel, second vice president; Mrs. H. M. Canfield, recording secretary; Mrs. Eleanor Waldo, corresponding secretary and Mrs. J. McCrory, treasurer.

Brigade Group Hears Teacher

Robert Ozanne Discusses Qualifications for Profession

Neenah — Robert Ozanne, Neenah High school teacher, talked on the qualifications necessary for the teaching profession at a group meeting of eleventh graders of the Neenah Boys Brigade last night at the Brigade building.

Ozanne described teachers' activities in their profession other than classroom work but which are an essential part of their work. He urged boys planning to enter the teaching profession to become interested in extra-curricular activities at college, pointing out that many times these qualifications are as important as the knowledge of the subjects they expect to teach.

Pete Peterson, Oshkosh All Star basketball player, talked at the group meeting of ninth and tenth graders, describing a trip through Mexico. He outlined the habits, customs, peculiarities and traits of the Mexicans and told of his personal experiences during the journey.

Members of the twelfth grade group continued discussions on needs of the city. The tenth grade athletic program will be at 1:30 Saturday afternoon.

Demonstrations on making of fishing tackle were given by Gilbert Stevens and E. J. Lachmann Monday night at the seventh grade meeting. Winding bamboo fly rods and tying wet and dry flies were demonstrated.

Group discussion on reptiles was held at the eighth grade meeting and the sixth graders played games.

Lenz Legion Auxiliaries Entertain Post

Menasha — Members of the auxiliary will be guests at the meeting of Henry J. Lenz post No. 152, American Legion, at 8 o'clock Thursday night in Elks hall. Dancing will provide the entertainment and H. L. Sherman will call the turns for the old-time dances. A luncheon will be served.

At the business session of the post delegates will be elected to the Sixth district spring conference. The conference will be held May 4 and 5 at Waupun.

One-Sided Decisions Mark Volleyball Play

Menasha — One-sided decisions marked play in the volleyball tournament sponsored by the Girls Athletic association at Menasha High school Tuesday. In the only close game of the day, Conquerors II scored a 39 to 38 victory over Trojans III. Doris Noskowiak was the referee.

Victors III ran up the most decisive victory in defeating Trojans I, 64 to 24. Betty Keapock was the referee. Trojans IV defeated the Freshman classmate Trojans II by a 37 to 28 score. Phyllis Keapock was the referee.

Conquerors I took the measure of Highlights I by a 48 to 18 score with Bernita Moran as referee. Victors II trounced Highlights II by a 50 to 22 score. Doris Noskowiak was the referee.

Movie Land Its People and Products

By Jimmie Fidler

Cleveland, Ohio — Letters from Hollywood insist that "Saturday's Children," already persuaded to profit by historic examples. Each newcomer invariably decides, on seeing his name in lights, that he should be allowed to rule his own career—and to the devil with the stupid ideas of all studio bosses.

Mutterings: If Cesar Romero's hair gets any longer, he ought to carry a violin case in self-protection. Ode to mayhem: "And what was YOUR line of work, Mr. Welles, before coming to pictures?"

Growl: To the guillotine with Hollywood would-be's who try to be big shots by dragging star nicknames into every casual conversation. It's not "Gone With the Wind," but the inevitable attempts at imitation, which may bankrupt studios. Nervous itch: To slip a cake of wet soap (twist Zasu Pitts' hands just before she goes into her big scene. Hollywood would be a better town if fewer comics had one-crack minds. Silly notion: Richard Greene in the title role of "The Abysmal Brute."

THE HOLLYWOOD PARADE: Dolores del Rio, linguist: Miss Del Rio, educated in Europe, speaks three languages perfectly—Spanish, French and English—and understands Portuguese, German and Sam Goldwyn.

Mr. O'Brien is musing on the eccentricities of Fate. Returning from a South American tour on which he flew 25,000 miles without mishap, he immediately wrecked his car in a traffic collision.

Mona Barbs has completely reversed the usual Hollywood procedure—after seven years of gam- less success, she's just posed for her first leg art.

I like the reported repartee between two Hollywood glamour gals. No. 1: "I hate to think of my twenty-fifth birthday." No. 2: "Why, what happened?"

Sentiment Against Repeal of Tenure in 4 Communities

Neenah — Despite the fact that Neenah and the town of Neenah voted in favor of repeal of the teacher tenure law in the referendum in the municipal election Tuesday, Menasha's large majority swept the ballot against repeal of the law in the four communities.

The total votes against repeal of the tenure law in the four communities was 2,490, while there were 2,260 votes in favor of repeal, a 230-vote margin.

In Menasha, 1,363 voters were opposed to repealing the law, while 1,128 were for it. There was a 2-vote difference in Neenah, 935 against and 937 for. The town of Neenah voted in favor of repeal, 87 to 79, while the town of Menasha voted against repeal, 113 to 106.

Only two wards in Neenah were for repeal, the First and Fourth, but the margins in the other wards were narrow. One ward, the Second, voted strong for repeal, while all of the others were opposed in Menasha.

Census Taking Gets Underway at Menasha

Menasha — Federal census enumerators today started to take the 1940 census in Menasha. Five workers have been appointed, one for each of the five wards, to complete the population and occupied dwelling census. Paul Kalfahs, Neenah, is conducting the business census and has nearly completed his work.

Those who are taking the population census in Menasha include Mrs. Will Trilling in the First ward, Gordon Corry in the Second ward, Mrs. Margaret O'Neil in the Third ward, Richard Schlegel in the Fourth ward, and R. M. Hecker in the Fifth ward.

The census work is to be completed within the next two weeks. A similar group of one worker for each of the five wards started to take the census today in Neenah.

60 Menasha Teachers Attend Travel Party

Menasha — About 60 members of the Menasha Education association attended the spring travel party at the Conway hotel at Appleton Tuesday night. Decorations completed the travel theme.

Travel whist was played and John Henkel received a travel book, "The Royal Road to Romance" by Haliburton, as a prize. Miss Isabel Biddle and Miss Carol Drexler were awarded cook books.

Fr. Lyons Will Give Radio Talk Thursday

Menasha — The Rev. F. P. Lyons, C. S. P., who will be guest speaker at a joint meeting of the Knights of Columbus and Twin City Catholic Daughters of America, Court Alouez, at 8:15 Thursday evening in the Knights of Columbus club rooms, will broadcast from 3:30 to 3:45 P. M. at a 7 o'clock over WHBY at Appleton. Father Lyons will speak on "Americans All" in his radio talk.

The Catholic priest who has been guest speaker in Menasha several times in the last three years, will have as his lecture topic Thursday evening, "No Time Like the Present." Father Lyons is the founder and spiritual director of the national convert league of the Catholic Daughters.

Legion Post Names District Delegates

Neenah — Delegates representing the James P. Hawley post, American Legion, to the Sixth district convention at Waupun May 4 and 5 have been named. They are Ed Moulton, Leo Madison, Adolph Paulson and Ed Jahns.

COUNCIL ADJOURNS

Menasha — The Menasha council met at 7:30 last night at the city hall and adjourned to 7:30 Friday night. Bids on the new pumper fire truck will be received at that meeting.

CHIMNEY FIRE

Neenah — Firemen extinguished a chimney fire at the home of Donald Moore, 111 Austin avenue, at 7:25 last evening. No damage was done.

Find Cheap Seed Results in Poor Stand, Small Crop

Low Germination Makes It Most Expensive. Tests Reveal

The most expensive seed is cheap seed which, because of its low germination and high weed seed content, will result in a poor stand and a reduced crop, the state department of agriculture points out in a bulletin to County Agent J. F. Magnus.

This fact is clearly shown by the results of a test made at the state seed laboratory on a sample of seed sent in by a Marathon county farmer who had purchased the seed from the state. The seed was quoted at $4.70 per bushel of 45 pounds. Delivered in Wisconsin it costs about 12 cents per pound. The sample sent to the laboratory was found to be of the following mixture:

About 50 per cent timothy by weight, worth about 6 cents per pound; 25 per cent sweet clover, worth about 8 cents per pound; 10 per cent red clover, worth about 20 cents per pound, and 10 per cent alfalfa which appeared to be screenings, and not worth over 10 cents per pound. There was also a small percentage of Alaska and other crop seeds in it.

Not only is this seed expensive from a unit weight standpoint but because it was found to contain 15 seeds of Wild Mustard. Sown at the rate of 12 pounds per acre, it would mean planting apparently 2,840 mustard seeds per acre, according to Henry Lunz, supervisor of seed and weed control.

If a farmer were to purchase these seeds separately and mix them himself the cost of the mixture would be less and the quality no doubt higher. Lunz declared this is a good example, he said, of why it pays to buy seed from home dealers whose reliability is unquestioned.

The most economical seed to use, he pointed out, is tested, properly labeled seed that conforms to the requirements of the Wisconsin seed law.

Fence Rows Can Form Defense Line Against Advance of Insects

When certain kinds of insects injure a farm crop, the attack often comes at the edge of the field, orchard, or woodland, not at the center. H. H. Bennett, chief of the federal soil conservation service, points out in a bulletin to J. F. Magnus, county agricultural agent.

If the fence rows or edges of the fields are attractive to birds, the farmer has an auxiliary line of defense against insects, Bennett says. The birds may be able to destroy some of the insects before the insects can lay their eggs or complete the immature period of development. This is one of the reasons, often disregarded, that may make it wise to make the edges of fields attractive to wildlife.

Some weeds that grow in unintended margins of a field may harbor diseases that attack crops, and the farmer may need to kill out those weeds. But clean cultivation of fence rows, or repeated mowing or burning is not likely to be the best form of control. It may be wiser, for example, to replace the weeds with berry-bearing shrubs or a border of herbaceous perennials such as sorrel, lespedeza that will attract the birds that help control insect pests.

Committee to Sponsor Horse Auction April 13

The Outagamie county horse sales committee will sponsor its third horse auction Saturday, April 13, according to J. F. Magnus, county agricultural agent. The sale will be at the Schreier Produce Storage building, Greenville station, where

REELECT OFFICERS OF VALLEY BEEKEEPER'S GROUP

Officers of the Fox River Valley Beekeeper's association were reelected during the annual meeting yesterday at the city hall. Shown with Walter Diehnelt, Menomonee Falls, president of the state association, they are, from left, Cornelius Meyer, route 3, Appleton, chairman; Leonard A. Otto, Forest Junction, secretary-treasurer; Diehnelt, and W. J. Althaus, Shawano, vice chairman. About 50 attended the all-day session. (Post-Crescent Photo)

State Men Will Talk At 2 Demonstrations

The Appleton Cabbage Growers association will sponsor two cabbage seed treatment demonstrations Tuesday, March 9. The first will be held at 1:30 in the afternoon at the Pleasant View pavilion, town of Deer Creek, and the second at 8 o'clock in the evening at the McLaughlin-Thomas hall, Shiocton, according to County Agent J. F. Magnus.

Prof. R. E. Vaughan of the college of agriculture, Madison, will speak on insecticides and diseases. O. B. Combs, truck garden specialist of the college of agriculture, will talk on "Marketing."

Hortonville Scouts Have Weekly Meeting

Hortonville — Boy Scout Troop 37 held its weekly meeting at the fairgrounds Tuesday evening. A winter roast around a camp fire was enjoyed by the scouts.

Peter Beschta, Ellington farmer, recently purchased the house occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stratton from Mrs. Katherine Benjamin. Mr. Beschta plans to move to Hortonville in the near future.

The Rev. H. E. Wiche, pastor of Bethlehem Lutheran church, is spending this week at the home of his parents in Fond du Lac.

Christian Mothers society of St. Peter and Paul Catholic parish met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Vincent Freiburger.

ATTEND RECEPTION
Hilbert — Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Burkhardt and family attended the reception given Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Ernest Klessig at Cleveland for Mr. and Mrs. Walter Klessig who were married Wednesday at Cleveland. They will make their home with Mr. Klessig's mother and operate her farm. Mr. Klessig is a brother of Mrs. Burkhardt's. Mr. and Mrs. William Murray returned home Tuesday from Madison where on Monday they attended the funeral of Mrs. Murray's brother, Edward Kelher.

The second house sale was held last Saturday. The committee said it was satisfied with the result of the last sale of locally acclimated horses.

Improvements in Tractors Listed

Machines Getting Lighter, But More Powerful And Efficient

Gains in efficiency, reduction in weight, use of rubber tires, and more power to the gallon of fuel are outstanding results of tractor improvement in the last 20 years, according to a bulletin received by J. F. Magnus, county agricultural agent, from the United States department of agriculture.

Representative tractors today exert 80 per cent as much horsepower at the draw-bar as at the belt. Ten years ago the ratio was only about 76 per cent and in 1920 about 64 per cent.

Weight of the tractor to the belt horsepower declined from 350 pounds in 1920 to 225 pounds in 1930—and now the figure is 190 pounds. Tractors of 1920 gave about 7.5 belt horsepower hours to the gallon of fuel. By 1930 the figure had risen to more than 9 and is now more than 10.

Early tractors usually developed only half as much power at the draw-bar as at the belt and as late as 1908 at the Wisconsin trials the weight of the gasoline tractors centered averaged about 440 pounds to the belt horsepower or more than 800 pounds to the drawbar horsepower.

Pupils at School at Combined Locks Have Their Own Election

Combined Locks — Sample ballots were given to the pupils and the returns were as follows:

President—Robert Hella, 8, Walter Lopas, 5; Martin Williams, 8 trustees: W. Erickson, 10, E. Lindberg, 20; A. Weyenberg, 19, and J. Wildenberg, 14.

Supervisor—Walter Lopas, 9, and Martin Williams, 11. St. Ann's Altar society will hold its monthly meeting at the schoolhouse.

'The Happy Family' Is On Favored Book List

"The Happy Family" is the title of a book which is being recommended to parents by Shirley Newlin of the nursery school of the state university, according to Miss Irene Skutley, county home demonstration agent. The book is available from the Wisconsin Traveling library, Madison.

"Writing simply and with humor, the authors, John Levy and Ruth Monroe, have produced a book which is interesting, modern and helpful," Miss Newlin says.

The book treats the problems of the marriage partnership and children.

After the meeting cards will be played.

Members of the P. T. A. held their monthly meeting Monday evening at the school hall. Thirty members were present. Mrs. John Scherer was appointed delegate to attend the P. T. A. convention at Fond du Lac, April 23, 24 and 25.

Music was furnished by John Erickson and there was also community singing.

After the business meeting lunch was served. The next meeting of the P. T. A. will be held Monday evening, May 6. It will be a card party. The lunch committee consists of Mrs. M. Sprangers, Mrs. Cornel Smaxwell and Mrs. Ronald Snelling. The card committee includes Mrs. Dan Williams, Mrs. John Schumacher, and Mrs. Mart Van Geffen.

Huebner Herd Is High Producer in Cow Testing Unit

Shows Butterfat Average Of 39.6 Pounds During Last Month

The Huebner Bros., route 1, Hortonville, herd led production during March in the Outagamie County Dairy Herd Improvement association, No. 2, with an average of 165 pounds of milk or 39.6 pounds of butterfat, according to Glen Richmond, tester.

Cows in the Mrs. Mary Sams and Edward C. Rahmow herds tied for first place in individual production with 75.7 pounds of butterfat, each. Second in herd production was the Edwin Lemke herd with an average of 39.5 pounds of butterfat. The Bert Weyenberg herd was third with 38.5 pounds, the Loren Anderson herd fourth with 37.8 pounds and the Mrs. Sams herd fifth with 36.9 pounds.

A cow in the Anderson herd was second in individual production with 72.9 pounds of butterfat. Third was a cow in the Al Tiedt herd with 69.5 pounds. Tied for fourth place were cows in the Sams and Lawrence Bentle herds with 68.1 pounds of butterfat, each.

Owners and the number of cows producing 40 or more pounds of butterfat during the month are Edward C. Towns, Cities Have Found Benefits in Community Forests

A few towns and cities in the United States have had long and satisfactory experiences with community forests, according to a federal department of agriculture bulletin received at the office of J. F. Magnus, county agricultural agent.

A well managed community forest serves as a demonstration of good forestry practice to owners of nearby woodland or of wasteland that might better be growing trees, the department points out.

It reports that a community serving a thousand farms would benefit to the extent of $50,000 annually, if each farmer's average income from woodlands were increased $50 a year through better forest management.

Farmers Enjoy Better Diet Than City Folk, According to Survey

A larger proportion of farm families have "fair or good diets" than those residing in cities, according to an article in the current "Yearbook of Agriculture."

This superiority of farm diets is traceable to the better supply of protective foods that the farms furnish—milk, butter, eggs, fresh vegetables, and fruits.

In every region of the country families living on farms tend to rank first in the proportion that have good diets. Next in rank as to goodness of diet come the families in the large and middle-sized cities. Diets in the villages rank lowest of all because many villages do not have much home-produced food, nor do they have access to as good an assortment as is offered in metropolitan markets.

Play to Benefit Town Ball Club

Proceeds of "My Mother-in-Law" to Go to Greenville Team

The Greenville baseball club will benefit by the presentation of a play, "My Mother-in-Law" by Wilbur Brown, to be given at 8 o'clock Friday night at the Silver Dome, Greenville. A dance will follow the play.

The cast of characters includes Bernice Becher as Peggy Armstrong; Luther Huebner as Art Armstrong; Norana Trauba as Mrs. Wilda Stover; Nathalie Trauba as Sheila Stover; Myron Palmbach as Allan Armstrong; Lois Schreier as Beulah Hamtrec; Orville Peters as Fred Webb; Howard Sauberlich as Bernard J. Ledbetter; Leona Reimer as Laura Bradley; and Mac Huebner as Rose Caldwell. Mrs. Ervin Tellock and Mrs. Schreier are co-directors.

"Betty Behave" is the title of the play which Pleasant Corners Happy 4-H club will give in this year's drama contest, it was announced at a meeting of the club Monday night at the home of Norana Trauba, Greenville.

The club pledge was given by La Verne Palmbach, and an April Fool party followed the meeting. The entertainment committee included Norana Trauba and Dorothy Palmbach.

For the next meeting April 15 at the home of Mrs. Leo Schreier, Greenville, Miss Irene Skutley, home demonstration agent and 4-H club leader, will be present and help the girls.

Milk Cow Prices Are at High Level

Average Is $73, Highest Since March of Last Year, Report Shows

Wisconsin milk cow prices average $73 per head, according to a crop reporting service bulletin received by County Agent J. F. Magnus. The present prices average a dollar more than the average a year ago and the highest price reported since March 1938.

Unlike the prices of other livestock, the price of milk cows increased during the winter months.

The price of milk cows has increased somewhat in proportion to the increase in milk prices. At present it takes about 5,000 pounds of milk to buy a milk cow, which is about the relationship which has prevailed since September. Prior to October a much less favorable relationship existed between the price of milk cows and the price of milk during most of 1939.

Milk prices have increased substantially since September of last year and have been fairly even throughout the winter months. At the average price of $1.47 per hundred pounds reported for February, milk prices increased 41 cents per hundred pounds since the 1939 low shown for April.
